ABOARD THE U. S. S. KANE, OFF NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 17.—Shamrock V., Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger, was eliminated this afternoon from the third race for the America's Cup series when she became disabled after she had traversed only five miles of the thirty-mile course. She was racing neck and neck with Enterprise, the defender, when an accident to her rigging suddenly put her out of commission.

Shamrock's big main sail came tumbling down—part of it on deck, the rest in the water.

The race had been in progress only three-quarters of an hour when the accident occurred.

Enterprise continued. Enterprise proceeded. She had only to sail the full course to claim her third straight victory, virtually putting an end to Sir Thomas's hopes of returning to England with the trophy. A fourth victory for Enterprise would end the series.

At first Shamrock turned back, apparently heading for home. Then she seemed to change her mind after her officers held a conference with Sir Thomas who came alongside on his private yacht, Erin. Then the challenger turned and pitched along slowly. However, after only a few minutes of this she was taken in tow by a small power boat.

PA NEW C OBSERVES

Every day bulbs of some of the city traffic lights must be replaced. Pa New observed that new lights were put in the light of North and Mercer streets and at the public square, Tuesday afternoon.

While now and then there appears some suggestion that New Castle should have a mounted cop for duty in directing downtown traffic, we note in the press of another city that McKeesport has decided to do away with the mounted police officer job in that city and dispose of the horse. Safety Director Reeves' idea of putting more New Castle police on motorcycles and giving them a wider area to patrol, in New Castle, seems to be one that would be well carried out.

Registration of voters in the city on Tuesday was not very heavy. A large majority of the voters are apparently waiting until the final registration date to become enrolled. The last date is October 4.

Charles DeFonso, a Postal Telegraph company messenger boy, escaped injury in an unusual near accident late Tuesday afternoon at the Mill street bridge. He was riding his bicycle across the bridge and had the green light to proceed, when a horse was suddenly driven across the intersection in front of him. He couldn't stop his bicycle and struck the horse. By a peculiar freak of fate he was precipitated under the horse between

CONTINUE HUNT FOR JEWEL ROBBERS

No new developments were reported today in the jewel theft of Monday morning, when Charles Knobloch of this city was held up and robbed of $15,000 worth of jewels on the Youngstown Road.

With the excitement of the moment passed Mr. Knobloch is now feeling the effects of the experience and today is suffering from a bad case of nerves.

The insurance company holding the insurance on the jewels, two emerald rings and a diamond ring, is conducting a thorough investigation into the robbery but nothing was made public today on the findings.

Mystery Surrounds Pittsburgh Recluse Who Dies In Hospital

Apparently Very Wealthy Pittsburgh Man Lived In Tattered Garments

Found By Police In Dying
Condition In One-Room Which Is Always Occupied

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17.—The "man everybody knew" died in Allegheny General hospital today.

And, dying, shrouded his identity in a cloak of mystery that deputy coroners and police were unable to penetrate.

Believed to be William W. Lewis, reputed millionaire recluse, the "man everybody knew" was found in squalor in the bare kitchen of his palatial home in the Perryville district yesterday.

For the past 15 years the hermit had lived in but one room of the 17 room mansion.

Found by Police
Lewis, according to neighbors, was 70 years old and a grandson of the founder of the Lewis Foundry Company at Greentown.

He was found clad in tattered garments, dying in the kitchen of the home when police investigated the report of a newsboy that Lewis had not taken in papers delivered at his home for two days.

At Allegheny hospital, his illness was diagnosed as a bladder trouble due to undernourishment.

He died early today.

With his passing, came strange stories of his idiosyncrasies related by neighbors. Fifteen years ago the luxurious mansion was built—and from the day of its completion, only one room had been occupied by the recluse.

Mrs. Sarah Beck, 80, who served as housekeeper in the Lewis family for 65 years and who had been employed by the wealthy hermit, died in the attic of the home two years ago, neighbors said.

Window's Opened
The front windows of the man's bedroom, unopened since this house was built, were opened yesterday.

The recluse was seen walking around the house in his undergarments.

Wets And Dries Divide Victory

Results Of Tuesday's Voting
Gives Dries Edge It Appears

By International News Service
Drys and anti-prohibitionists divided early in six elections Tuesday, victory returns by International News Service indicated today.

In Massachusetts, former Senator William M. Butler, a drier, was leading Eben S. Draper, anti-prohibitionist in a close race for the Republican senatorial nomination.

In Wisconsin Philip La Follette won over Governor Kohl for the Wisconsin gubernatorial nomination.

Mrs. Ruth Pratt, Republican congresswoman, was renominated in New York.

Republican dry candidates, with few exceptions, were winning over anti-prohibition candidates in congressional contests, incomplete returns showed.

Connecticut Republicans named Lieut. Gov. Rogers, a drier, as candidate for chief executive.

In Delaware former Senator Thomas P. Bayard, an anti-prohibitionist, was chosen by the Democratic party for the United States Senate. A dry law repeal plank was adopted.

Ohio Democrats did not consider prohibition in their platform.

Lewis Was Out Under Bail
Bond Of $20,000 During Trial

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—Melville S. Lewis, 57-year-old Germantown resident, accused of fraud by a number of California residents, was found dead early today in the garage of his Ocean City, N. J., home. His death was attributed to carbon monoxide gas poisoning.

The motor of Lewis' car was running and the doors of his garage were closed.

Physicians said he apparently had committed suicide.

Placed on Trial Yesterday
The dead man was placed on trial here yesterday in quarter sessions court on charges of fraud contained in two indictments returned by a grand jury here recently. He was free in $20,000 bail pending the outcome of the trial, and during the night he went to his seashore home.

Described as a "de luxe swindler," who had obtained thousands of dollars from successful business men, Lewis went on trial here before Judge Joseph L. Kun and a jury court.

Indiana Capital At Noon

(International News Service)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 17.—Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, French trans-Atlantic flyers, landed at Stout Field here at 11:21 a. m. today.

The famous conquerors of the east-west passage of the Atlantic made an excellent landing in the Question Mark and were cheered by thousands of spectators. Accompanying the Question Mark were two other planes which will remain with the distinguished aviators during their good-will tour of this country.

The flyers came to Indianapolis from Dayton, Ohio, after passing over Richmond, Ind., where notes of greeting were tossed to thousands looking skyward.

Two Surveyors Are Killed By Train

Two Railroad Surveyors Killed
By Speeding Train Near Erie, Pa.

(International News Service)
ERIE, Pa., Sept. 17.—Struck by a fast freight train on the New York Central tracks, two members of the engineering survey department of the railroad were dead here today.

Mangled and almost unrecognizable, the bodies of the victims, E. E. Sutton, 51, and Arne T. Johnson, 24, were recovered by members of the train crew.

A passing freight derailed on the tracks engaged in taking surveying measurements.

Claiming that the passing freight obscured his vision on a curve, the engineer of the train said he did not see the two men until an accident was unavoidable. Safety brakes were applied but could not halt the engine, speeding at more than 40 miles an hour with a string of freight cars behind.

The men were carried 150 feet on the engine's cowcatcher. One of the victims was decapitated.

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special To The News)
MOHAVE, Cal., Sept. 17.—Did you ever see a real 100 per cent dry town? Well I did, but I had to go to the heart of the desert to do it. It was Bodie, and Bodie, the old mining town, had been lately monkey glanded with a new gold score.

Mrs. Rogers and I blew in there last night. I wanted to show her what a real live western mining town was like at night. Well of all the sad looking messes, it was it. The night before twenty prohibition officers had raided the place and closed her up tight.

Did you ever see a miner on soda pop? You can't even console him. Every throat was dry and every eye was wet.

"BOSSY" GILLIS
IS POOR THIRD

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Sept. 17.—William M. Butler, "dry," was nominated for United States senator in the Republican primary over Eben S. Draper, "wet" according to latest returns this afternoon.

With twenty voting districts in the state missing, Butler was leading in the close race by approximately 8,500 votes but political observers said the lead was substantial enough to assure victory.

Meanwhile, Republican leaders were reported impressed by the "wet" strength in their party in Massachusetts.

Latest figures gave Butler 136,564 Draper 126,812 with three score scattered election precincts missing.

Mayor Andrew J. "Bossy" Gillis, the so-called "bad boy" mayor of Newburyport, had only 18,976 votes.

Seek Missing Man Through Police

Mrs. Molly Borak, 18 Hyatt avenue, Campbell, O., today asked the assistance of the local police in her effort to locate her husband, Stephen Borak, aged 20, who has been missing since seven o'clock Monday morning, when he left for work and has not been seen since.

He is described as being about five feet nine inches in height, weighing about 150 pounds, having blue eyes and freckles and light complexioned. He was wearing a brown coat, blue and white shirt, dark trousers, without a hat or cap and had black shoes and no tie when he left home. Half of the thumb of his left hand is missing.

START TRIAL OF REID IN ELLWOOD ROBBERY

James Reid, charged with robbery in connection with a holdup in the office of the Manufacturer's Heat and Light Company in Ellwood City on June 11, was placed on trial before Judge Hildebrand at court this morning. The holdup was by two men who secured $645.79.

Elmer G. Blair, of Ellwood City, the other man, who entered a plea, was the principal witness against Reid. He claimed that they had been in New Castle on June 11th and had been drinking. They went to Ellwood City, he said, shortly before 3 o'clock. They had a bottle of liquor in the car, and had been drinking in Ellwood City.

Blair said that they had planned the robbery and went to the Manufacturer's Heat and Light Company office shortly before 5 o'clock. Both (Continued On Page Two)

Thompson Freed Of Embezzlement

Former Uniontown Coal
Baron Acquitted Of Embezzling From Nicolls Estate

(International News Service)
UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 17.—J. W. Thompson, former multi-millionaire coal baron, today stood acquitted of charges of embezzling $125,000 from the John Nicolls estate, following a verdict yesterday by a jury.

Gerald Fitzgerald, blind son of the Princess of Thurn and Taxis who brought the charges against Thompson, was ordered to pay court costs. The jury was out less than one hour, after receiving the case late yesterday afternoon.

Smiling and confident, Thompson sat at his counsel's table yesterday as the jury returned and read the verdict. He said that he was confident he had done no wrong in borrowing $98,000 from the estate and was sure the jury would not find him guilty.

In presenting closing arguments for the defense, Attorney E. C. Highbee stated that it was true that the obligations to the Princess and her son had not been paid, but for years Thompson had bent every energy to meet this as well as other debts.

Assistant District Attorney Arthur Byrne argued that in loaning himself money out of a fund of which he was trustee, Thompson was guilty of embezzlement as pertaining to a trustee.

Next week Judge J. W. Dawson must determine whether Thompson will go to jail for contempt for failure, to meet the same obligations involved in the present case.

Mrs. Paul LaVeen
Injured

Mrs. Julia Logan, 72, widow of G. T. Logan, of Patterson Heights, Beaver Falls, was instantly killed, and her daughter, Mrs. LaVeen, was seriously injured, when a car which Mrs. LaVeen was driving, was crowded off the New Castle-New Wilmington road, 6 miles north of this city this morning and struck a telephone pole.

The accident happened near the intersection of a road leading from the New Wilmington road to Neshannock Falls, at the Johnston woods. Mrs. Logan was thrown through the windshield. She sustained a broken right arm, fracture of the left ankle, contusion on the forehead and internal injuries.

Badly Injured
Mrs. Paul LaVeen had her right arm badly broken at the wrist, and received other injuries about the body, and possibly internal injuries. She was rushed to the Jameson Memorial hospital. The body of Mrs. Logan was brought to local undertakers.

Mrs. LaVeen has been suffering greatly since she was taken to the hospital and has not been able to tell much about the accident, further than to make a statement that she was proceeding in the direction of New Wilmington, when she was crowded off the road by a car going in the opposite direction. So far as has been learned at this time the driver did not stop.

It was around 10 o'clock when the accident happened.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Guppy, of Beaver Falls, the latter a daughter of Mrs. Logan, were immediately notified and came at once to New Castle.

Mrs. Guppy says that she does not know where her mother and sister were going. Mrs. Guppy lives next (Continued On Page Two)

Air Mail Pickup Will Be Resumed

Postmaster Edwin W. Crawford announced today that air-mail pickup service at the Bradford airport here will be resumed once repairs to the government's especially equipped planes are completed. They are expected to be ready shortly.

Operations were discontinued a few days ago. No other mail planes are equipped for the pickup process.

When the game begins and the cheering starts and the heroes line up for the fray, it's a pretty sight as the flags unfurl and the crowd is peppy and gay. And the first string lads get a mighty hand as they wait for the opening gun, but back of the team is a bunch of scrubs, who get little of cheering or fun. They're labored hard as the first team has, but their labor was little avail, and the only chance they will get this year, is perhaps when a star will fail. So when you begin with your round of cheers, remember the second string line, who labor and sweat in the practice games, the weather is seventy nine.

Forty-Five Dollars Needed For Wheel Chair For Feree

Must Have Funds For The Same By The Last Of Present Week

Need of the new wheeled chair for Clarence Feree, crippled young man, who is making a strenuous effort to make a living for himself by the sale of newspapers at East and East Washington streets, is very pressing. The old chair that he now uses is about ready to fall to pieces, and that would be just too bad, as he would be without means of continuing his badly handicapped battle for a living.

Surely there are in this city 45 more persons, who can come forward with a dollar by Thursday evening and make this chair a sure thing. How would you feel if you were paralyzed from the hips down and a wheeled chair was the only means of getting around and you did not have any means of getting it and your appeal to the charitable inclined people of the community had taken so long a time to raise the funds needed to get you the chair that you were left to a bare existence, or would you give up? Clarence feels the right way, all right. He is pleased with the interest so far manifested but is in constant fear that his old chair will give out before he can get the new one.

How about giving up those spare dollars right away? It would be a fine thing to clear up all suspense on the part of Clarence by getting the $450 needed by Thursday night. Let's do it now.

Below will be found a poetic contribution by an interested friend, which it is hoped will bring a realization of the need in this case to a sufficient number of persons to complete the fund.

The fund stands today as follows:

Previously reported	$142.00
Cash	1.00
A friend	2.00
W. E. Dufford	1.00
J. W. Eckman	1.00
John A. Suci	1.00
A friend	1.00
Mrs. J. G. Barge	1.00
Total to date	$155.00

A plea for the wheel chair for Clarence Feree.

By A Shut-in.
Chairs are made from wood we see,
Every chair was once a tree.
Trees are made by God alone,
As are land, the sea, and stone.
Chairs are such delightful things,
What sweet rest a good chair brings.
If we had no chairs at home,
Then after we all would roam.
Home no longer would be best,
If we had no chairs for rest.
Here's a man who needs a chair,
One on wheels his feet to spare.
So to help this man to live,
Surely we can something give.
Come, my friends, now let us see,
How we all can help Feree.
If he can his papers sell,
Then he can in comfort dwell.
Bring your dollars, bring your dimes,
Let the angels ring their chimes.
When they see what you and me,
Do to help our friend Feree.

Words fail the average woman only when she is about to attend to her own funeral.

You're the JUDGE

Bilkins was a bachelor. Ever since he could remember he had been a great friend and pal of Cramer. Eventually Cramer married, but the friendship between them went on. After a while the news began to be whispered that Cramer was about to become a father. This interested Bilkins tremendously, and one day he suggested to his friend Cramer that if he would name his child, provided, of course, that it was a son, after him, he would contribute a certain sum toward the needs of the new arrival. What's more, he agreed to put that into writing in the form of a promissory note, and did so.

In time the little stranger arrived, and it was a boy and Cramer, true to his promise, gave it the first name of Bilkins. But when he turned to his friend and asked him to make his contribution Bilkins promptly refused to do so. The note, he argued, was illegal because the consideration of naming the child after him was of insufficient value. But Cramer didn't think so. He evidently thought that naming the child after Bilkins was worth every bit Bilkins promised to pay for it, and so he went to court.

Start Rebuttal In Bell Trial

Rebuttal Testimony Offered Today In Trial Of Tony Bell In Uniontown

BELL DENIES ALL STATE TESTIMONY

(International News Service)
UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 17.—Introduction of rebuttal testimony for the commonwealth was expected to feature today's session of the trial of Tony Bell, former Mason town chief of police, charged with the murder of Constable John F. Donahue.

The dramatic highlight of the trial came yesterday when Bell, taking the stand in his own defense, denied any connection with or knowledge of Donahue's death and categorically denied statements contained in testimony of state witnesses.

These denials were that he never had uttered threats against Donahue nor had characterized the constable as a "double-crosser"; that he was not a passenger in a "mystery" car seen near the scene of the murder shortly after the crime, and that he was not in an automobile at the murder scene.

Bell claimed a complete alibi on the night of the murder, tracing his movements in detail. His testimony dovetailed with that given by other defense witnesses who had aided in building up an alibi for the defendant.

Bicycle Rider Runs Into An Automobile

Several Accidents Are Reported To Police In Which Cars Are Damaged

James Hagen of 321 West Grant street, was enroute south on Green street from Grant street, Tuesday, when a young man riding a bicycle ran into the side of his machine. He was knocked off his bicycle. Mr. Hagen took him to the office of a physician, where on examination, it was found that he had escaped injury, of a serious character.

John Campbell of 806 West North street, reported Tuesday that he was enroute south on South Jefferson street, near the Central Fire station, when the car of Jess Stevenson, of 814 West North street, enroute in the same direction in front of Mr. Campbell's car turned into the middle of the street as if to make a left hand turn. Instead he made a sharp turn to the right, causing Campbell to run into his machine. Damage was done to both machines.

Sam Pisano of 37 Emerson avenue, Wheatland, Pa., reported that he was driving west on Croton avenue at East Washington street, as a car bearing Pennsylvania license 0714H came east on Croton avenue, collided with his machine. Both were damaged.

Thornton W. Allen, of 409 West South street, reported Tuesday that he was enroute north on Atlantic avenue, as Arthur Bigley of 15 High street, going in the same direction, crowded him off the street. Both machines were damaged.

STAR LORE

ASTRONOMY BOTH NEW AND OLD

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

THE GREATEST thrill budding youth gets out of astronomy at first is from star-gazing and the flash of "shooting stars." Later on he becomes impressed with the field of research that is being conducted by astronomers known as the new astronomy. That stars are composed of radiant atoms, the smallest structural particles of matter known—particles both electrically positive and negative, the whole atomic structure usually thought of as similar to the solar system—with a mass of protons (positive particles) at the center, while around the central mass whirl in orbits the negative planetary electrons. Follow daily Star Lore and get the new as well as the old astronomy.

Business Depression Given Cause Of Win By German Radicals

New Castle Bank President Speaks On Economy At Club Meeting

That the present depression in business is universal was the declaration of Adolph Green, president of the People's Savings and Trust Company before members of the Wolves Club at a meeting in the Elks Home Tuesday.

Green said that political unrest has been caused by the depression felt in all parts of the world. The recent radical victory in Germany, the Argentine rebellion and other major political outbreaks were attributed by him to the depression.

Green gave a talk on the economic conditions in this country and showed how depression in any part of the world affects America directly or indirectly. He explained the difference between the present depression and the hard times in 1920-21, saying that the difficulty of 1920-21 was caused by over production which resulted when manufacturers who were hurrying their products for war purposes suddenly stopped production.

D. D. Valensi, president of the Wolves presided at the meeting.

Plans were made for a two day outing to Conneaut Lake Park to be held Saturday and Sunday.

themselves baffled. They did learn, however, that he lost a sister several years ago and that another sister was in an asylum. A nephew, who had visited the aged man on several occasions, recently was driven from the home, neighbors told police.

An investigation of the dwelling, a luxurious type of Victorian architecture, revealed the only one room, a bedroom, was furnished, sixteen other rooms, throughout the three-story mansion, were bare.

In the attic was found furniture, silverware and chinaware, all giving evidence of perfect taste and funds to gratify that taste.

Mystification over the hermit-like life led by the man was increased when several bankbooks, showing recent deposits of thousands of dollars, were found. That he was extremely wealthy was indicated by papers showing interest amounting into the thousands was received every month through stocks and bonds. One bankbook indicated he was trustee of the estate of Elizabeth Lewis, deceased.

Rescue Mission Is Economic Need Here Minister Declares

Has Solved Many A Perplexing Problem For Epworth M. E. Pastor

"The City Rescue Mission has solved a very perplexing problem for me," declared the Rev. S. L. Maxwell, pastor of the Epworth M. E. church today. "That is the problem of the man who comes to the door for food or for financial assistance. I am unwilling to turn a man away hungry or to refuse a little financial assistance, but I do not wish to make my home a marked station for the professional tramp, or to have my money used for drink. I do not have the time or opportunity to investigate each case. And here is where the mission comes in.

"A recent incident will illustrate. We had just returned from our vacation, when a man past middle life came to the door with hard-luck tale, and the story of a daughter in a distant city. We had no food in the house, and the wayfarer's story had a weak sound. What was I to do? I called Mr. Watkins, superintendent of the mission, and asked him to give the man a meal and a ticket to Pittsburgh at my expense; and I then sent the man to the mission. He departed with voluble thanks, but he did not turn up at the mission until the next day, and then his condition was such as to justify my caution.

"Another time it will turn out differently. But here is a practical way in which the busy citizen may help the needy while refusing to become an easy mark for the professional wayfarer. The experience of the mission workers is at the disposal of our citizens, and if the mission is adequately supplied, and then used in this way, it will help to keep New Castle from becoming a mecca for the habitual hobo, and yet from fatal hard-heartedness toward the unfortunate."

INCOME HELPS TO CUT STATE COSTS

Recent Report Made To Mrs. E. S. H. McCauley, State Secretary Of Welfare

HARRISBURG, Sept. 17.—Exclusive of State appropriations receipts of maintenance purposes from penal and correctional institutions of the Commonwealth amounted to $5,270,652 for the last fiscal year, according to a recent report to Mrs. E. S. H. McCauley, State Secretary of Welfare under whose jurisdiction the institutions come.

There are six State institutions included in the list from which the reports were compiled and the sources of income have been classified indicating the means of payment to the institutions. The six institutions are the Western State Penitentiary at Pittsburgh; the new Western State Penitentiary at Rockview; the Eastern State Penitentiary at Philadelphia; the Pennsylvania Industrial Reformatory at Huntingdon; the State Industrial Home for Women at Muncy and the Pennsylvania Training School at Morgantown.

The total receipts listed previously are derived from the sources exclusively of the State appropriations to the institutions which have not been included in the totals. The sources from which the receipts have been paid are listed as follows, together with the amounts accumulated to form the total of more than five million dollars: from patents $1,116,693; from miscellaneous sources $104,005; and from counties and poor districts $4,050,344.

During the past biennium in accordance with the Fiscal Code passed by the 1920 Legislature, the Department of Revenue has made the collections from the institutions. Previously the boards of trustees of the institutions were responsible for the collection of money receivable from the sources mentioned above.

The totals represent the collections for the fiscal year beginning June 1, 1929 and ending May 31, 1930.

Receipts from the same sources in the ten medical and surgical hospitals owned by the State amounted to $598,143 for the same period of time. The eight State mental hospitals made receipts available in the amount of $2,414,088 also for the same period of time and the four institutions for feeble minded and epileptics showed receipts collected in the amount of $126,292 for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1930.

Vets Plan Mountain Memorial Park

(International News Service)

DENVER, Col., Sept. 17.—Veterans of the Second Division drew up proposals at a recent reunion banquet in Denver providing for the establishment of a mountain park in Colorado as a memorial for members of the division who lost their lives in the World war. The park would replace the proposed marble memorial tablet to be erected in Washington, on which members of the division have been working.

The National association of the division has been raising $150,000 for the construction of the memorial in Washington. More than half of that sum is available at present.

The proposed park would cover several hundred acres. It would provide recreational and fishing facilities for members of the Second Division association, and would include a clubhouse in which mementoes of the Second division could be kept.

Miss Connors, also an employee of the gas company, told about the hold-up, but was unable to identify Reid, although she identified Blair.

Charles Ruhe, who was in the office, testified that he had only seen the back of the men, and that he would not be able to identify either of the men.

Robert Bower, a Pittsburgh traveling man, was able to identify Blair, but said that the other man had a handkerchief over his face and he could not identify him.

The case is still on trial. Reid denies that he was the man who was with Blair.

AUXILIARY MEETS TUESDAY EVENING

Forty members of the Queen Esther Auxiliary of the First Methodist church met in the large living room of the Rentz home on Edison avenue, Tuesday evening, for their regular meeting of the month. Mrs. Fred L. Rentz was a charming hostess to the large gathering.

Preceding the social hour, when Mrs. Rentz, assisted by Mrs. H. H. Rosenthal, Mrs. Carl Paisley, Mrs. William Shaddock, Mrs. C. Ed. Brown, Mrs. V. E. Dufford, Hester Haine and Hattie Welsh, served a most delicious lunch, an entertainment and business meeting took place.

Devotionals were in charge of Mrs. Howard Dean. Little Kathryn Wilcox gave several readings in a talented and charming way. During the business meeting Mary Bigley and Margaret Breno were appointed on the flower committee for the year. Reports of the secretary and treasurer from former members were read. Miss Cecelia Lewis, a missionary from Africa, gave a very interesting talk on her work there.

There were a number of special guests present and also some new members. The new members included Mrs. Hugh Robinson, Mrs. John Butler, Mildred Sargeant, Mrs. J. A. Neighbors, Mrs. J. W. Phillips and Mrs. J. B. Brattell.

The Queen Esther Auxiliary of the First Methodist church is one of the leading church organizations of the city and is doing some splendid work in the missionary fields. Meetings are held every month at the church and at various homes.

FEDERATION HEARS REPORTS OF CLUBS

The Lawrence County Federation of Woman's Clubs inaugurated the fall season Tuesday afternoon when the executives held their first meeting of the fall season in the Y. W. C. A. with the newly elected president, Mrs. S. M. Matheny, in the chair. The executive board meets monthly on the third Tuesday.

Featuring the afternoon were reports from the various committees. Mrs. S. Elmer Crawford, reporting for the Womodaus club, gave an account of the help that had been given to girls this summer by the church groups, the Y. W. C. A. and the clubs of the city in sending 52 girls to the East Brook camp for a week. Next year the organizations will endeavor to give more girls of the city the advantage of a week at camp.

Mrs. William Howley reported from the Garden club and told of the success of this year's flower show. She also advised the clubs to plant three annuals next year in addition to the club flower and urged the women to think of this early so their planting could be done on time. She spoke of the good work that had been done among the schools and the interest the children had taken in their gardens.

It was decided to start the "Road of Remembrance" this fall with the planting of trees along the Perry Highway. This road will be in commemoration of all soldiers who have gone out from Lawrence county and by the time the women have a tree planted for each one, this part of the highway should present a beautiful sight and will increase with the years to come as the trees grow in memory of loved ones gone out for their country's sake.

The committees discussed the work of the International Relationship, the American Citizenship and the opportunities for the blind and deaf and planned a program of work along these lines for the coming year.

Mrs. Fred Smith spoke of the campaign being waged in Pittsburgh of the "Safety in the Home" and advised that it be taken up in Lawrence county.

As a closing remark the president urged all women of the county to register and vote at the coming election.

Mrs. Matheny also urged any who could to attend the 35th annual meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania, which will be held in Scranton, October 13 to 17 inclusive.

BEAUTY EXPERTS PREDICTED FACE POWDER STYLES WOULD CHANGE

Realizing the difference in skin types, leading beauty specialists several months ago began urging the use of face powders exactly suited to the three types of skin—oily, dry, normal.

In step with this modern trend in face powder styles, Plough's created three different face powders... one for your type.

Try it! See what radiant new beauty it brings to your skin; what charm and warmth of natural color it lends to your complexion. See how it smooths on, how it clings, how it conceals little blemishes, and how magically it makes pores invisible.

FOR OILY SKIN—Choose heavy texture, Plough's "Incense of Flowers" Face Powder, in the oval box—75c.

FOR DRY SKIN—Choose light texture, Plough's "Favorable House" Face Powder, in the square box—75c.

FOR NORMAL SKIN—Choose heavy texture, Plough's "Eau de Cologne" Face Powder, in the round box—75c.

Each powder comes in White, Flesh, Pink, Brunette and Sun-Tan tints and is sensibly priced wherever beauty creations are sold.

A smart frock... a stylish hat... you buy them wisely. Then why not apply this same keen shopping judgment to the selection of your face powder? You can... for Plough offers you the finest quality, the purest ingredients at sensible prices.

L. D. K. Missionary Meeting

The L. D. K. Missionary society of the Third United Presbyterian church met Tuesday evening at the home of Virginia Wilson, Johns street.

The business session was in charge of the president, Jane Kyle and at the close of business Mrs. Ruth Gibson had the missionary program in charge. The annual report of the mission fields was given, with Mrs. Effie Smock taking up the "Freedmen"; Helen Kyle spoke on "India" and the Thank Offering was given by Jane Kyle. Laura and Josephine Mooney gave some splendid musical selections.

Concluding the program the girls took up their needles and thread and began a quilt, when finished, will be sent to an orphan's home.

To close the evening the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. Wilson, Helen Saxton and Alberta Davis, served a dainty lunch.

October 21 will mark the date of the next meeting.

Birthday Party

Mrs. Mont Richards of 508 Court street entertained at a party Tuesday afternoon in honor of the third birthday of her little granddaughter, Donna Marie Eckley.

Games and music were pastimes, and picture taking proved another delight of the afternoon's program. A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Richards, assisted by Mrs. R. A. Bailey, Jr., Mrs. Harry Brady, Mrs. Ray Richards, Mrs. G. C. Eckley and Mrs. A. F. Armstrong of Youngstown. O. Pink and white tones were used in the appointments.

Those present included employees of the Railway Express Agency who were C. S. McCaskey, V. M. Rice, W. J. Hanna, Charles Lamison, A. Priorelli. Special guests included Rufus Simpson, Robert Smith, Charles Zimmerman and William Lastoria.

The hostess assisted in serving by Miss Marie Lastoria. At the conclusion of the feature, cards and radio music were enjoyed.

The guest of honor received a number of presents as a memento of the day.

Farewell Dinner Party

As a courtesy to a group of young people who are leaving for college, a dinner party was given at the New Castle Field Club house Monday evening. After a sumptuous menu had been served at 7 o'clock, the hours were spent informally, and later in the evening a number of others dropped in to participate. There were several guests from Sharon in attendance.

Plates were laid for Sarah Cobau, Josephine McGowan, Jean and Barbara Jenking, Charlotte Sample, Carolyn Longstreet, Stanton Wettich, Joseph and Edward Flaherty, William Aiken, James Wallace and George Trainor.

Members of The Reading Circle of '91 are looking forward to an interesting meeting on Monday which will mark the first of their winter gatherings. The affair will be in the form of a 10 o'clock luncheon at The Castleton.

Honors Husband

Mrs. James Shaw of East Washington street entertained 25 guests on a recent evening in honor of the birthday of her husband. Music, bridge, and chat passed away the social hours. At a suitable time, a delicious lunch was served by the hostess assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Paul Wilson and Mrs. Edward Bartsch and Mrs. Charles Miller.

TA TE YAH PAH CLUB ENTERTAINS TUESDAY

Ten members of the Ta Te Yah Pah Club enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. O. P. Fox of Emerson avenue on Tuesday evening when they met for their regular meeting. The usual routine was carried out with cards, music and social chat as the pastimes. At the close of the evening, the hostess assisted by her daughter Thelma and Mrs. Chauncy McKissick served a tempting lunch.

The next meeting of the club falls on September 25 with Mrs. William Lewis of Court street as hostess.

Daly-Houle Marriage

A quiet wedding was solemnized Tuesday morning when Josephine Sarah Daly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Daly of South Front street became the bride of Clarence J. Houle, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Houle of West Pittsburg.

The ceremony was performed in St. Mary's church with the Rev. Fr. P. J. McKenna officiating. The bride was attractive in an ensemble of African brown velvet with accessories to match and wore a corsage of tea roses and valley lilies. Margaret Houle, sister of the groom as maid of honor was attired in blue velvet with corsage of the same and matching accessories. John A. Daly, brother of the bride served as best man.

Supplementing the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at 9 o'clock at the home of the brides parents, covers being laid for members of the immediate families, and a few intimate friends. A six o'clock dinner in the evening with covers arranged for 40 guests at a table beautifully decorated in keeping with the wedding appointments, closed the festivities.

The bride was a former employee of the Joseph-Horne Company of Pittsburgh and the groom is affiliated with the New York Central Railroad office at Monaca.

Mr. and Mrs. Houle will dispense with a wedding trip for the present, and will be at home to their friends at 2 South Front street.

Birthday Party

Mrs. Mary Confera entertained a group of children in her home on South Mill street Monday evening in honor of her son Phillip, the date being the sixth anniversary of his birth.

The hours from 7 to 10 were spent in various kinds of games and amusements, the feature of the evening being a balloon contest, which was won by Lillian Rosenberg. Tootsie Mangieri entertained with dancing.

The climax of the evening came when the little folks were ushered into the dining room, where a table was centered with a large birthday cake and delicious refreshments were served to Tommy and Rosie Spinelli, Tootsie Mangieri, Frank Pullano, Nettie and Lillian Rosenberg, Phillip and Santino Bordonaro, Joseph and Philip Confera.

The little chap received some lovely gifts and wishes for many more birthdays.

Young People Meet

The Young People of the St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church had a social evening Tuesday at the parsonage of the church on North Jefferson street and an informal good time was the feature of the evening.

During the brief business session a "hamburg fry" was planned for Tuesday, September 23, which will be held in the church. Officers for the coming year will be elected at this meeting.

Walter Hempel, the present president, was in charge Tuesday evening for his last session as he left this morning for Greenville to enter Thiel College, as did Michael Goldner, another member of the society. All associates in the work of the young people wished them luck in their college work and success also as both boys are preparing to enter the ministry.

Wedding Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Patterson of East Brook announce the marriage of their daughter Julia to J. Parke Hackett, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Hackett of Chicago, Ill.

The ceremony was performed in the study of the First Baptist church at Janesville, Wisconsin, Friday, August 15, with the Rev. H. E. Norton, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Hackett who have been spending the summer at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, have returned to Chicago, where the former is a student in the law school of Northwestern University.

Mrs. Hackett was formerly of this city, is a graduate of the local Senior High school, class of '21, and has been for the past few years a student at the Chicago Musical College.

Crime Never Pays

BOON TO HUMANITY

FOR decades and centuries humanity has been sorely in need of an infallible method of ushering out the visitor who is more loath to depart than his host is loath to have him prolong his stay. Many subtleties are in vogue but none of these is 100 per cent efficient or practical on all occasions and throughout the twelve-twelve hours of the day.

A German professor of philosophy has just conceived of an innovation in this direction which before exhaustive experiments have been conducted seems to be the answer to this social dilemma and promises to put an end to much human suffering.

Besieged by a marathon caller the Leipzig dean took up his hat from his own library table said to his caller, "Excuse me, sir, for taking up so much of your time," and bowed himself out of his own house.

Humanity owes a debt of gratitude to this doctor of philosophy. He has hit upon a method at once, final, graceful and complete. If the guest has not departed after a few turns around the block or a walk to the post office the host can slip into the house through the back door or cellar window and retire.

While it may have its defects this invention has much to recommend it over the paper-rustling and yawning method, the sudden remembering of a fictitious engagement, making a casual reference to a call on a sick friend and pooh-poohing the carrying on one's clothes the germ of smallpox. These latter are crude and ineffective by comparison.

THE GERMAN ELECTION

An analysis of the result of the German election upheaval is given by the Philadelphia Inquirer as follows:

The general election in Germany on Sunday was in effect a fight of both ends against the middle. In other words, the Fascists and the Communists, alike hostile to the republic for opposite reasons, made such gains as to threaten any coalition of moderates which may be formed against them in the new Reichstag.

The striking defeat of the Nationalists, who return with only a half of their former membership, shows that the Conservative element, which, though with monarchical leanings, worked within the constitution, has been largely supplanted by the more radical opponents of the republic, who have adopted the Italian name and admire the forcible methods of the followers of Mussolini. And the Communists, though swayed by different motives, have become practically their allies, so far as animosity to the other parties upon which any Ministry must depend is concerned.

Of course, the Fascists and Communists, combined have not a majority of votes or of seats in the Reichstag. Nor are they likely to act together. None the less, the sudden increase in their strength is not a propitious omen. The Socialists, though they have lost some fifteen seats, are still in a position to be the nucleus of a new political coalition. A working majority in the Reichstag could be formed from the Socialists, Centrists and other moderate parties. But such combinations are always uncertain, and a Ministry depending upon one has a difficult course to steer. Whether the Brüning Ministry can carry on the government in the circumstances is dubious. Its financial programme was so violently opposed that it had to dissolve the Reichstag before half its term had expired, and there is nothing to show that conditions have improved since.

Heavy taxation, business depression, unemployment, all have contributed to the general discontent. No government could be popular in these conditions. The Brüning Ministry, which is now holding office by commission of the president, will present the rejected measures to the new Reichstag. It is difficult to see, however, in what way the authority of the Chancellor will have been strengthened, or what measure he can take to push his financial programme through. He certainly will have to convince the Socialists that no undue burden is to be imposed upon the working classes. They and the Centrists must be the main dependence of any Chancellor during the life of the new Reichstag. Together they have 219 votes, while the Fascists and Communists together have 173. An effective government majority would be completed only by the adherence of the various "bourgeois" blocs.

We shall know better when the new Reichstag meets what to expect. Meanwhile it is clear that the political confusion which existed before the election has not been diminished by it, to say the least. Instead we have the phenomenon of vast increases in the numbers of the extremists, all of whom are hostile to the republic. It is a difficult situation, though not necessarily an ominous one. The budget troubles originated in excessive expenditures in public works and social insurance. One obvious remedy was the reduction of unemployment payments, a prospect which no doubt had much to do with the surprising increase in the Communist vote; nor were the Socialists in favor of rigid economy in this direction.

Thus, except for the success of the Fascists, the issue is more financial than political. This fact will probably lead to new resentment against the reparations payments and a more insistent demand for a revision of the Treaty of Versailles. But upon these remedies no Ministry could count at present.

MATRIMONY SERIOUS BUSINESS

How serious is matrimony? All around are evidences that the vast majority of men and women regard it with traditional gravity. Whatever disappointments have come to one or the other party to the nuptial partnership, they usually are concealed and so far as surface indications go all is serene in the average home.

An overruling sense of duty it may be that prevents the dislocation of many matrimonial bonds, causing wife or husband to endure the almost unbearable. Other less respectable reasons may impel one to tolerate a galling condition. But the common impression given is that matrimony is regarded seriously.

It is well so, as may be concluded after reflection upon some of the conspicuous failures brought forth in the news. Yet we wonder when the seriousness of matrimony takes hold of a lot of people. Obviously in all too many instances it is not within the period of courtship when there is still time to avoid error.

If only after the wedding wife or husband begins to learn about the other that which should have been ascertained before a matrimonial shipwreck is almost certain to ensue. How very serious matrimony is appears from whatever angle the subject is examined. No special warning should be needed to impress this truth on any.

 France Worried, But Ready.
 To Fly High.
 Soul Searching Week.

Leading all the way Harold Vanderbilt and his American defender, the yacht Enterprise, Monday won the second international race easily. Some serious accident, or a miracle, would be needed to give Lipton the victory, which millions of Americans heartily wish he might have.

France worries about the German elections, threatening the stability of Hindenburg's government, and the era of what may be called "German submissiveness."

Hitler, the new power in Germany, advocates abrogation of treaties, with disregard of the Versailles agreement, and he preaches radical anti-semitism.

The hope of the Conservatives in Germany and in France is that moderate German radicals will act with the Hindenburg party to prevent control by Hitler.

The wise French who look ahead and were not taken by surprise in 1914, are probably not surprised now. It is not for nothing that they have accumulated two billion dollars in gold, and built the world's most powerful fleet, that within 24 hours' notice could strike destructively at every German city.

Pokker has built, secretly, an airplane with its motors in the wing. Intended for pursuit plane work, the construction will minimize air resistance.

And engineers, serious men, not dreamers, according to the "sportsman" plan an automobile to fly high up in the atmosphere where no man could breathe, with air pressure reduced to almost nothing.

Two hundred thousand feet up there exists a very different atmosphere from the heavy air down here, so different that the atmosphere itself could be used for fuel.

The flying car would manufacture breathing material for their own lungs and for the engine, neither of which could use the upper air. A speed of 3,000 miles an hour is actually suggested, which is called reasonable with air resistance almost entirely lacking. One thousand miles an hour, the sun's apparent speed, and around the world in 25 hours, would be fast enough.

If Wall Street interests you, as a stock owner or a ticker watcher, this is a week for soul-searching. In this week of September, a year ago, we all suddenly discovered that things that go up can also come down. After a continuous three-year advance, prices began to crumble. And how they did crumble! Broken hearts and bank accounts can tell. "How (Continued On Page Five)"

Twenty years from now they'll say:

"Twenty years ago

People used to act that way;

My, but they were slow!

Curious were the customs then.

Parties used to start at ten.

"Motor cars were all the style.

Airplanes rather new;

Mothers fretted all the while

If the children flew.

In that very distant age

Talking pictures were the rage!

"I remember as a child

Static used to drive him wild

Twenty years ago.

Television wasn't known;

All they got back then was tone."

Twenty years from now we'll be

Will be counted great.

Youngsters then will want to know

What amused us years ago.

MONOTONY.

Are you bored with the sort of life you lead?

Monotonous—one month and one year after another, you long for something different.

You might have some variation, but the opportunities that come to you do not appeal, so you lead a drab life.

But what of it, that your life is not all that you wish it?

Few people are able to gratify even a small percentage of their desires.

Being displeased with life because you can't have every whim gratified is a child's way of looking at things.

You greatly enjoyed your automobile—the first you ever owned.

Since then you have owned several, but you have not had a thrill to compare with what you felt the first time you sat at the wheel of one you owned.

Nor is there a longing for a car beyond the reach of your purse.

It takes half the enjoyment from your present drives in what is a much better car than you could own at first.

Why are you not satisfied with what you can own, if it is the best you can get on your income?

Instead, you go down the list and count your life colorless because you can't have the unattainable and fail to get the beauty and the pleasure from little that would be interesting and delightful if you would look at things right.

Argentine Coup Seen As Gain For Pan-American Harmony

Yrigoyen, Who Has Been Deposed, Recognized As Great Leader And Idealist Who Had Been Driven To Despotism By Political Conditions.

Despite the apparent hostility of Hipolito Yrigoyen to the United States, the public in this country reveals appreciation of his qualities as a statesman, and one who has contributed to the material growth of Argentina. His downfall as President of that country is laid to intolerable political despotism, in the face of his own tendencies as an idealist in public affairs. There is a belief here that the change will produce greater harmony with the United States and in Pan-American relations.

His first term as President is described by the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE as "an almost heart-breaking experience," particularly as he felt himself betrayed by some of his lieutenants. The result was, as understood by that paper, that "he entered his second term with a determination intensified by distrust. The evidence is," continues The Chronicle, "that his experience urged him to attempt a personal supervision of nearly everything in government. In a country as large as Argentina no man could be successful in such a task. His unremitting toil was not sufficient to get around to the details. He could not fulfill his own program which included even personally selecting appointees for the smallest offices. The result was a breakdown of his own health and of the organization of government. Even the courts at home and the diplomatic service abroad were crippled. His party followers clamored for unfilled offices. Their dissatisfaction was communicated to the population through acute economic conditions."

The new military group which has come into control is described by the CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER as "the equivalent of Gerard's list of 50 who, he said, run things for America. Before the 50 was increased to 64 by adding the names of a few labor leaders and unionists." The Plain Dealer calls the group "what an earlier generation in this country respectfully referred to as the 'better element'" but adds that "there are more colonels and generals than one would find in a similar group in the United States." The editorial concludes: "Here is a chance for the best business minds of a lively and enterprising nation to see what they can do in governing. Gerard's 59 are mostly too busy making money to bother with such things."

"In such a great country as Argentina," thinks the CHARLESTON EVENING POST, "it is impossible to take such an upset as a matter of popular churlishness due to frivolous or irresponsible disposition. The Argentine people have a full sense of the responsibilities of government, they are building up a great nation and they desire and seek the respect and the friendship of other governments. It is impossible to think of their just 'blowing up.' But there is for all that, something decidedly disquieting in the ease with which the army and the navy came together in a resolve to overturn the government and set up a military dictatorship. It is hoped these arbitrary forces will take steps without delay to restore civil government and to reassure other nations that a stable regime is in authority."

"The promptness with which American, British, and Argentine bankers have agreed to 'lend to the provisional government the money to cover its immediate needs,'" says the NEW YORK SUN, attests their confidence in its stability. The Sun emphasizes the fact that "estimates revised on Sept. 8 by the Division of Finance and Investment of the United States Department of Commerce set the total of American investments in Argentina at between $775,000,000 and $935,000,000."

"Many Americans have believed Yrigoyen no friend to this country," according to the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN, "and were disturbed by the recent Argentine policy of antagonism to the United States in the Pan-American affairs and of refusing to adhere to the Kellogg Pact. But no change at Buenos Aires that provokes civil war and sets the evil precedent of abandoning constitutional measures for redress of grievances—a plea pleasing to this country."

Wild animals are used to the vicissitudes of drought and flood. Dr. Bell says, and are generally well able to take care of themselves. There may have been some concentration of wild animals in restricted areas, giving the appearance of plentifulness, he said, but this probably is caused by the moving of animals from areas where the water supply has been depleted to areas where there are larger streams or springs.

The young of game life were developed sufficiently before the drought came this year to fly to other streams or lakes, where there probably was little loss of birds.

In the semiarid regions where jack-rabbits abound, there may have been some moving of animals to more plentiful water supplies, according to Dr. Bell, but these animals can do well for rather long periods without much water. They have a "system all their own" for obtaining water, also, he said, their physical systems being capable of extracting water from the plants they eat for use instead of drinking water. They also obtain much of their water supply from dew on vegetation, he said.

THE WORLD AND THE Mud Puddles

THEY KNOW.

Although there have been various reports that the drought has made wild life by depriving animals of their food supply, and that it has benefited them by preventing the usual flooding of their dens, there has probably been little effect either way. At least so says Dr. W. B. Bell, in charge of the division of biological investigations of the Department of Agriculture.

Large Estate Left By Traction Magnate

Estimate Estate Left By Late
Thomas E. Mitten Is Upwards Of $3,500,000

Drowned At His Country
Estate In Pike County
Last October 1

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—The estate of the late Thomas E. Mitten, Philadelphia traction magnate, who drowned accidentally on his Pike county estate October 1 last year, was estimated at upwards of $3,500,000 according to an inventory on file today with the register of wills. At the time of Mitten's death it was reported his estate would exceed $10,000,000.

More than half of the estate listed in the inventory consisted of holdings in Mitten management, Inc. The Mitten country estate "Dunroaming," lying just beyond the city limits is valued at $728,651 while "Sunnylands," the huge Pike county estate near Millford where he drowned is estimated to be worth $224,341.

The greater part of the estate consisted of holdings in Mitten management, Inc. The appraisement made by William C. Lloyd and Ellen Hynes, secretaries of the late traction magnate, revealed that he had held 70 shares in the corporation valued at $27,175.15 each. The total value was $1,902,260.50.

Curious Circumstance.
Through some curious circumstances the late Mitten had practically neglected to buy into P. R. T. and Allied Mitten projects, though they represented a $172,000,000 enterprise, of which he was the head. Less than $1000 worth of their stock was in his hands at the time of his death, according to the inventory.

These latter holdings consisted of ten shares of P. R. T. stock valued at $470 and a half dozen shares of Mitten management Bank & Trust Co. stock valued at $450.

Likewise he did not own a share of the Mitten Bank Securities Corp., which at the time of his death, and even now, owns approximately 400,000 shares of P. R. T. common, or practically two-thirds of the outstanding issue.

THE QUESTION BOX

CENTRAL PRESS WASHINGTON BUREAU

Answers to questions on information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O., and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions, nor will the estimated value of old coins be given.

Should a signet ring be worn with the bottom of the letter toward the end of the finger or reverse?

Should a high school ring or lodge emblem be worn with bottom toward the end of the finger, or reverse? In both instances this is a matter of individual preference, although the insignia is usually worn with the bottom of the initial or design nearest the end of the finger.

Marriage Age

How old must a girl be to be married in Rhode Island without the consent of parents or guardian? What is the age in Massachusetts and New Jersey?

In Rhode Island a girl must be 21 to marry without consent of parents or guardian. In Massachusetts, 18, and in New Jersey, 18.

Nevada Divorce Laws

Can you give me any information on the divorce laws of Nevada? What newspapers are in Reno?

A person must be a resident of the state three months before he can get a divorce. The grounds on which divorces are granted in that state are: willful desertion for one year, conviction of felony or infamous crime, habitual gross drunkenness contracted since marriage, impotency at the time of the marriage continuing to the time of the divorce, extreme cruelty, neglect to provide for one's family for two years. The Reno newspapers are the Gazette and State Journal.

Federal Prisons

How many federal penitentiaries are there, and where are they situated?

Federal prisons are located at Leavenworth, Kas.; Atlanta, Ga.; and McNeil Island, Wash. The Federal Industrial Reformatory for Men is at Chillicothe, O., and a Federal Industrial Institution for Women at Alderson, W. Va. There is a federal prison farm on the Missouri river, in Platte county, Nebraska.

Columbus' Tomb

Where is the body and grave of Christopher Columbus? Columbus' body is interred in the cathedral at Seville, Spain.

Nellie Bly

Did a woman reporter once make a journey around the world in less than 80 days?

Yes, Nellie Bly, a New York reporter, made a round-the-world trip, in 1889, in 72 days, 6 hours and 11 minutes, to demonstrate the feasibility of the hero's exploits in Jules Verne's "Around the World in Eighty Days." She used trains, boats and horses.

Prince Pani, Midget Is Seriously Injured

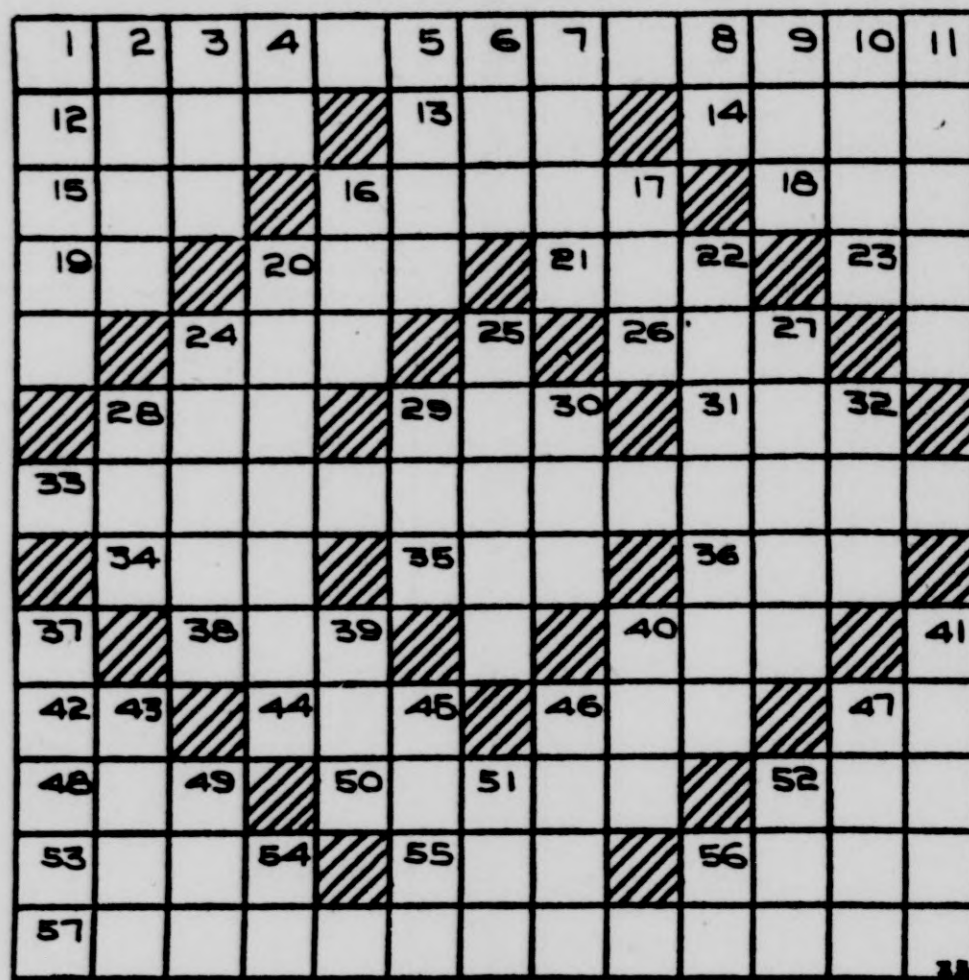

Small Chance For Saving The Life Of Injured Forty-Six Year Old Midget

Prince Pani, a member of Ike Roses show troupe who met with an automobile accident in Parkersburg, West Virginia, Saturday morning, while riding with his friend, W. H. Taylor, of the Blennerhassett hotel of Parkersburg, and Mr. Taylor's nephew.

According to authorities of the St. Joseph's hospital where he was taken for medical treatment, it is stated that there is little hope held for his recovery. Pani's skull was badly crushed and in such cases, the crisis is generally reached after 48 hours. Ike Rose, manager of the Midget Troupe arrived in Parkersburg from New York City and will remain until the crisis is passed.

Prince Pani will be remembered here by many New Castle folks, having played at the Liberty theatre on South Mill street. During his time here, he made many friends who will regret to learn of his critical condition.

Peter's Adventures

NO QUARTER FOR A TRAITOR

HAD Soldier Ant heard? Peter thought so when he saw her toss her head and glare angrily about her. But she said nothing and busy, claw over her mouth, kept on with his story.

"Let Soldier Ant find a spy in our midst and she will give her no quarter. Off with her head," shrieks she, and rushing upon the offender bites off the poor thing's crown. Disloyalty to her tribe is the worst fault an Ant can have, according to Soldier Ant, and she would rather see an Ant lying lifeless before her than to find her a traitor. That is why Grumbly and Fussy and Scold annoy her. Those three are not traitors yet, of course, but their complaining is the stuff of which disloyalty is made. Let them keep on thinking in the way they have begun, and before long they will pick other flaws in our manners and customs. By and by nothing will suit them, and they will say so much that other Ants who would have thought everything was quite all right if bad ideas had not been put into their heads, would join those three in their whining. One fine day we should wake up to find ourselves in the middle of a revolution."

"What would happen then?" Peter's curiosity was mounting.

"Plenty!" Busy vigorously nodded. "The contented would be called to fight against the discontented. Where there had been peace there would be noise and confusion. Sister would fight against sister. Right would prove might, as it always does. The Contented would win and the Discontented be judged traitors, and made to pay the penalty of their disloyalty with their heads. The whole thing would be most disagreeable. And Soldier Ant believes in stopping trouble before it is well started. That is why she was so severe with Grumbly, Fussy and Scold. And Grumbly, Fussy and Scold respect her!"

To be a HEALTHY WOMAN watch your Bowels!

WHAT should women do to keep their bowels moving freely? A doctor should know the answer. That is why pure Syrup Pepsin is so good for women. It just suits their delicate organism. It is the prescription of an old family doctor who has treated thousands of women patients, and who made a special study of bowel troubles.
Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is made from fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients. It doesn't sicken or weaken you. But its action is thorough. It carries off the sour bile and poisonous waste. It does everything you want it to do. It is fine for children, too. They love its taste. Let them have it every time their tongues are coated or their skin is sallow. Give some to keep little bowels open during colds.

When you're a sick headache, can't eat, are bilious or sluggish; and at the times when you are most apt to be constipated, take a little of this famous prescription (all druggists keep it ready in big bottles) and you'll know why Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the favorite laxative of over a million women!

Indigestion
Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.
The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.
One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn now—why this method is supreme.
Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.
Milk of Magnesia has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Probe Atlantic Refinery Blaze

From Refinery Fire At Pittsburgh

MANY FIREMEN BATTLE FLAMES

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17.—Investigation was started today into the fire which yesterday afternoon razed one building at the Atlantic Refining company's plant here and for a time threatened to destroy the entire plant. Damage was estimated at $50,000. Firemen from 11 companies, called to the scene by three quick alarms, found one building a seething mass of flames, rapidly spreading with the aid of a brisk wind. Donning gas masks, firemen battled with the raging flames for more than an hour before the fire reported under control. Dense clouds of thick black smoke hung over the plant and seriously handicapped the firemen. Police from Lawrenceville, the Strip and East Liberty districts were rushed to the scene and hastily formed police lines to hold a crowd of several thousand spectators in check. The building destroyed housed coal bunkers that feed the surrounding stills. Large vats of oil located close to the fire were dumped into the Allegheny river to prevent a possible explosion. Yesterday's fire recalls the disastrous blaze which took the lives of seven firemen and caused damage of more than $1,000,000 seven years ago.

Highland Parents Guests Of Scouts

Scout Commissioner, Aides Present To Greet Boys Last Night

Scout Commissioner R. F. Davis, Deputy Commissioner Ed O. Raney and Scoutmaster Robert Wallace of Troop 10 were special guests when the Highland U. P. church scouts met in the basement of the church last night. Present as guests also were a number of parents of the boys and a delegation of Troop 10 scouts. Seascouting, the new branch of boy scout activity was given considerable attention during the meeting. George Seyffert, active leader of scout work here discussed the matter. Before adjourning, the troop made plans to assist in the three-day synodical meeting to be held in the Highland church next week. United Presbyterian churches from all over this section of the country will be represented.

Seeks Daughter On Account Of Death

Mrs. Eugene B. Smith, of Troy, O., in a letter to the police department, received today, asks the assistance of the local authorities in the attempt to get in touch with her daughter, Mrs. E. Mary McMichael, and son Charles, whom she last heard of as being in this city. She desires to get in touch with this daughter because of the fact that Mrs. Michael's sister is dead. Any person able to give information relative to Mrs. Michael and her son are asked to get in touch with the local police department at once.

New Anti-Pain Oil Works Wonders

Takes the Crick Out of Your Neck, the Sharp Shooting Pains Out of The Shoulders—in a Few Minutes
This new discovery is a combination of eucalyptus together with essential oils, turpentine-Camphor, Capsicum and other valuable ingredients that is now being offered to the public under the name of "Anti-Pain Oil," formerly known as Snake Oil. It has proved to be an effective, agreeable remedy for aches and pains, chest colds, flu, coughs, etc. Thousands of sufferers are now being relieved by this new penetrating oil. For rheumatic pains, neuralgia, crick in neck, sharp shooting pains in the shoulder, stiff joints and sore muscles, apply freely to affected parts. The oil quickly penetrates, bringing relief almost like magic. For chest colds, flu and sore throat, apply freely to affected parts, well greased with vaseline or lard. For coughs or hoarseness, take one drop of a cup of sugar. Don't continue to suffer longer. Use this new and improved remedy, perfected after years of research and experimental work. Instead of poisonous habit forming drugs, you will then know what it means to be free from pain. Refuse imitations. Nothing like this new Anti-Pain Oil (formerly known as Snake Oil) has been introduced in this country since 1870. Now being sold and introduced by Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc.

Pinchot Pledges His Support To Shenango Valley On Waterways

New Castle Group Of Businessmen And Manufacturers Attends Sharon Meeting

Gifford Pinchot, candidate for governor of the state promised support to the Pymatuning dam project at Tuesday at a meeting in Sharon attended by 100 manufacturers and businessmen, including a group of 25 from New Castle, who came to stress to the candidate the need of the project development as a means of furnishing an adequate water supply for municipalities and industries located in the Shenango valley, the local delegation reports. Pinchot committed himself to the support of the project if elected governor, provided sufficient money can be secured through proper channels of the state. The meeting was held in the Masonic building. The local men went for the purpose of impressing upon the mind of the gubernatorial candidate the great importance of the Pymatuning development. The wishes of those represented and the need of the completion of the dam was presented to Mr. Pinchot by Hon. Fred T. Fruit of Sharon, secretary of the Pymatuning Dam Commission. Fruit's presentation was followed by facts submitted by leading industrial leaders of the district. The meeting was attended by the leading manufacturers of New Castle, Sharon, Greenville, Farrell and other cities in the valley. A leading New Castle engineer emphasized the fact that it was costing a New Castle company nearly $100,000 additional annually to operate because of present lack of sufficient water supply.

SCHOOLS TO USE ORGANS TO AID MUSIC CLASSES

(International News Service)
BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Sept. 17.—Visual methods of musical instruction will be available to educators and will be demonstrated first in New York public schools this winter, according to an announcement, at the Estey organ factories where seven large automatic reproducing pipe organs are being built for New York schools. All of them will have the newly perfected visual feature announced today for the first time. The new construction is based on inventions of Harry F. Waters, of Larchmont, N. Y. In the new automatic reproducing organs each stop tablet will have a colored electric light directly over it. This light will flash as that particular stop or set of pipes is brought into the composition by the playing of the roll. Under full automatic operation, these stops will be both indicated by the lights and played by the action of the roll, so that an entire classroom can observe and identify the stop with the tone quality, as it is registered. For individual instruction in organ registration, the roll can be played semi-automatically, the stops to be used will be indicated by the lights, requiring the person at the keyboard to depress the stop tablets as their use is called for in the composition. As a further aid in identifying the stops with the tonal qualities they control, different colors will be used for the different types of instruments represented in the pipes. Stop tablets representing brass instruments or horns, will be colored red, and indicated by small red lights. Wood wind instruments will be indicated by blue lights and blue stop tablets, and string instruments by yellow tablets and lights.

Margiotti And Aids In Trial In Erie Court

Prosecution Aid In Schroeder-Dague Case Is Defense Counsel At Erie

Attorney Charles J. Margiotti, of Punxsutawney, Pa., who was appointed special counsel for the state in the prosecution of Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague, is again engaged in a trial that is attracting considerable attention, this time as a defense lawyer. The case is that of the commonwealth against Nick Carlucci, said to be a gangster of Erie, Pa., who is on trial for the murder of Tony Ruberto, murdered August 7th. Associated with Mr. Margiotti are Attorney Sebastian Pugliese, who was also in the Schroeder-Dague cases, Attorney Edward Petrillo and A. J. Nowak. The case is being prosecuted by District Attorney Otto Herbst of the Erie County courts.

Deny Awarding Of Contract For Air Mail Transporting

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The post office department today denied reports published in some newspapers that the United Navigation Co., of Pittsburgh, has been awarded a contract to carry the mails on one of the two new transcontinental air mail routes for which the department received bids several weeks ago. The department believes the award of a contract to the Aviation Company of New York, was a garbled as meaning the United Navigation Company of Pittsburgh. Contracts for the two new routes will be awarded shortly, the department said.

Boy Scout News

Court Meets Thursday
The Rev. G. S. Bennett, chairman of the Lawrence County Boy Scout Council office of honor, today announced everything in readiness for the September award session in City council chambers on Thursday at 7:30 p. m.
Presbyterians Resume
Scouts of the First Presbyterian church troop met recently with Scoutmaster Edwin Schmid in charge, assisted by Senior Patrol Leader Herbert Christman. A color ceremony opened the meeting with William Powell as bugler. Short patrol meetings were held, dues were collected and good turns given. Scout Executive H. G. Horton was present and talked on leathercraft. Several games of "Steal the Bacon" were played and the team captained by Tom Strausbaugh won. Taps closed the meeting. Scribe—James Kirkpatrick.
THIEF TAKES LOT STREET CAR TOKENS
C. J. Roeder, who operates a P. & O. Bus on the run that goes as far as the Garbage plant, reported last night, that a young man, who had been riding the rear of the bus, put his hand through an open window of the bus, near the end of the run, and stole about $6 worth of street car tokens. Officers Dukes and Hanna answered the call but were unable to locate the thief. The car landed and Noah surveyed the wreck. "It might be worse," said he, "there's nobody to howl for a Congressional appropriation."

"Skule" Work Proves Barrier To Youth's Patrol Ambitions

Young Scranton Man Spurns Opportunity To Attend Patrolman's School

HARRISBURG, Sept. 17.—"I return the paper you sent me to fill up as if you think I have got the time to wait on such a thing as going to skule to be a motor cop you is badly mistaking." Thus a Scranton young man spurned the possible opportunity to enroll among pupils of the State Highway Patrol school. He returned the application sent him at his own request. "Innumerable young men imagine the life of a State Highway Patrolman is all beer and skittles, forgetful of the fact that legally he is out and skittles a game of the past," said Captain Phillip C. Dorr of the Patrol. "They are all of a fever at the thought of wearing a bright uniform and riding a shining motorcycle, but their enthusiasm peters out when they learn they must undergo a hard course of sprouts for several months and shine their own cycles. Even among those who enter the school with eyes open disillusionment comes, and they resign in disgust. The work is too strenuous for them." "Pennsylvania who encounter motor patrolmen on the highways should realize that they are the product of a school which aims to weed out the unfit, and mentally and physically equip those who are worth while. Youths who can't 'wait time going to skule' are not wearing State Highway Patrol uniforms."

Hemphill Backers Organize Campaign

Thomas W. Phillips Pledges Support For Hemphill In Coming Election

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17.—Formation of an organization to conduct a campaign for John Hemphill, Democratic and Liberal candidate for governor in Allegheny county was forecast today by Charles Dorrance, State Liberal party chairman, coincident with Dorrance's announcement that Thomas W. Phillips, of Butler, Pa., unsuccessful wet Republican candidate for governor, had pledged his support for Hemphill. Dorrance has been in Pittsburgh since Monday, surveying the local political situation and interviewing business and professional men. Before leaving today for Johnstown and Altoona where he is to speak, the State Liberal chairman announced that headquarters for Hemphill would be opened here probably next week. He did not disclose the names of those with whom he had talked. A campaign manager for Allegheny county will be in charge of the local campaign, he said. Dorrance was to speak at a luncheon meeting in Johnstown today and a dinner meeting in Altoona tonight.

Income Tax Cut Very Doubtful Is Reed's Opinion

Senator Reed Fails To See How Special One-Percent
On Income Taxes
Can Continue

GOVERNMENT MUST RECEIVE REVENUES

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The government must receive greater revenues or slash its expenditures during the remainder of the year if there is to be a continued reduction of taxes next year, senator David A. Reed (R) of Pennsylvania, declared today.

He said he could not see how the one per cent special reduction on income tax, authorized by congress a year ago, could be continued on present revenues.

Customs receipts have been reduced first because the volume of imports was less than a year ago and second because the value of imports was reduced, he said. Imports will gain steadily, he said, but he does not expect the total revenues will equal those of last year.

Touching on Pennsylvania politics he predicted the election of Gifford Pinchot to the governorship and of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis to the U. S. Senate. He said there was no chance of a successful contest against seating Davis as has been rumored by some democrats. Reed said Davis "won a decisive victory in a fair and square contest and it would be an outrage on him and on the state of Pennsylvania to even question his right to take the oath of office."

Eighty Million In Highway Work Since January 1

More Than 1,200 Miles Of Road Work Bid In Since
First Of Year

THIRTY MILES ARE YET TO BE BID ON

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 17.—Road contracts costing approximately $80-600,000 have been awarded by the State Highway Department since January, 1929. These contracts call for the improvement of more than 1,200 miles of road and the projects are being financed without a bond issue.

The Department has a road letting scheduled for September 25 at which time bids will be received for the improvement of about thirty miles of highway and a number of bridges.

Since the beginning of this year contracts have been awarded for 664.64 miles of road. Contracts let last season and carried over the winter involved an additional 563.29 miles. Contractors so far this season have finished 787 miles of road as compared with 357 for the corresponding date of 1929.

In June of this year contracts were let for work to cost $7,923,868 which was the largest amount involved in the lettings of this administration.
Those contracts covered slightly more than 125 miles of road. The mileage or road involved in the June letting was lower than September of 1929 but the amount of money higher. In September of last year contracts were awarded for 128 miles of highway costing $7,360,000.

Contracts for 21.6 Miles
Every month this year except August the contracts awarded by the Highway Department have been in excess of $4,000,000. Last month contract awards were for 21.6 miles of road to cost $1,465,462.

The mileage of road involved and the amounts covered in the contracts for roads in the last twenty months follows:

1929—January, 13.27 miles, $514,926;
February, 2.68 miles, $140,324; March, 39.03 miles, $1,627,361; April, 28.61
miles, $1,395,143; May, 49.62, $2,603,923;
June, 65.35 miles, $3,789,322; July, 77.5 miles, $4,349,507; August, 106.23 miles, $6,040,470; September, 128.16 miles,
$7,360,633; October, 11.26 miles, $5-
755,530; November, 68.31 miles, $3-112,833; December, 53.08 miles, $2-744,959.

1930—January, 104.8 miles, $5,370-
525; February, 99.04 miles, $5,459,125;
March, 82.42 miles, $4,639,872; May, 91.11 miles, $4,895,370; June, 125.52 miles, $7,923,868; July, 111.87 miles,
$5,750,926; August, 21.66 miles, $1,465-462.

The amount of money involved in the contract awards during this period does not constitute the entire sum going into road improvements. Department forces this season have constructed more than 160 miles of highway in addition to what was finished under contract. The cost of this construction is borne by the motor fund.

Geisking Claims That He Is Being Framed For Murder

Indiana And Reputed Illinois
Racketeer Fights Extri-diction Proceedings

(International News Service)
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 17.—Maintaining that he is being "framed" for the gang murder of Alfred Lingie, Chicago Tribune reporter, Ted Geisking and his attorneys today fought to evade extradition to Chicago.

Geisking's attorneys last night asked permission to file a writ of habeas corpus to obtain the release of the Indiana gangster before he could be questioned by Chicago authorities.

Investigator Pat Roche of the state's attorney's office at Chicago arrived here today with two Chicagoans who witnessed the slaying of Lingie last June 9 in a crowded pedestrian subway.

The witnesses today were to view Geisking in an attempt to identify him as the racketeering reporter's slayer.

Defiant in his cell, Geisking said he would return to Indiana for trial for his jacking and an asserted jail break, but defied anyone to get him into Illinois.

This Evening

Seventeen members of the New Castle Lions club, headed by President
Earl T. Ramsey, will leave the city in automobiles this afternoon for Greenville, where tonight they will go with groups from nine other clubs of northwestern Pennsylvania for a District Five dinner and conference.

District Governor Daniel Kramer, of Reading, elected to that position at the state convention of Lions clubs here last spring is expected to be a guest of honor. Deputy District Governor J. C. Brackin, of Greenville, was to preside over the meeting following the dinner.

Golfers Go Earlier
Five golfers of the club left earlier in the day to compete with teams of other clubs in a make-up competition.
They were Dr. T. M. Shaffer, John R.
Ellison, Arthur Rees, John Miller and
M. V. Hyde.

Others in attendance tonight from here will be the Rev. G. S. Bennett,

Besides New Castle and Greenville,
Oil City, Meadville, Erie, Warren,
North East, Farrell, Butler and Beaver Falls were to send delegations. The evening's program was to take place in the Greenville country club.

State Forest Fire Damage For 1929 Is Placed At $104,370

Actual Physical Damage Placed At High Figure By United States Forestry Service

(Special to The News.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 17.—
Forest fires in Pennsylvania last year did actual damage to the extent of $104,370, exclusive of the "vast amount" of intangible and indirect damage, the United States forestry service says in a report on 1929 forest conflagrations in the country.

Forest fires in Pennsylvania numbered 2,461 during the year. They burned over 41,860 acres of forest and non-forest land, an average of 17 acres per fire. Actual damage from the fires amounted to $104,370, a considerable decline below the total damage of $360,740 resulting from forest blazes in the state in the previous year.

Smokers were the direct cause of the most costly forest fires in the state in 1929, conflagrations started by matches and smokes doing damage to the extent of $25,290, representing 24.2 per cent of the total forest fire damage in Pennsylvania. Damage from fires started by other agents is reported by the forestry service as: Incendary $10,600, railroads $14,440, campers $8,160, debris burning $20,740, lightning $3,030, lightning $330, miscellaneous $12,290 and unknown causes $10,490.

LaFollette Wins Nomination For Governor's Chair

Robert LaFollette Defeats Gov-

Margin

(International News Service)
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 17.—
Philip F. La Follette, son of the late
United States Senator "Fighting Bob"
La Follette, won the Republican party nomination for governor by a plurality which will exceed 100,000, the tabulation of returns indicated today.
La Follette defeated Gov. Walter J.
Kohler, millionaire manufacturer, by a margin which may reach 105,000 votes.

In 2,300 out of 2,824 precincts the vote stood: La Follette 310,233, Kohler 208,672.

THERE's a harmony between the natural loveliness of this modern age and the natural, mild goodness of Camels. And if you find them keeping company, don't be surprised.

Camel has given the world the luxury of a naturally mild cigarette —a cigarette that preserves all the refreshing fragrance of the choice, mild tobaccos from which it is made—a cigarette that is delightfully smooth, but never flat, never parched, never tasteless.

Modern smokers are awake to the fact that mere flatness doesn't mean mildness. That's one reason there's such a swing to Camels.
Watch it right in your own crowd. Join them in Camels—a smoke that's enjoyable all the way—all the time.

During the last week in June I

The school for parents was put on by the State University in co-operation with the state department of education, the latter financing it.

About half the program was given family and trout, I went to Knoxville, Tennessee, for a week at the state university. Again it was a program with parents put on for the state PTA, this time by the university, financed by it. For several years this state university has been affording such series to the parent of this home building organization.

The program for this summer was almost entirely on parent education, health problems, social problems, guidance problems leading. Here, as at the University of Alabama, many students attended and a number of the faculty participated.

In October I am going back to Tennessee, for the state PTA convention at Nashville; and in November to a similar convention in Texas. Although I was born a "Yankee," I am acquiring a strong affection for the southern folk, and they seem to think pretty well of me, for in the past year I appeared on parent education programs in Arkansas, North Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, and Virginia. Every time I return home from such a visit in the southland I tell my family:

"We just don't know the alphabet of hospitality."

The last week of August I worked at the Packard Manor School for Young Children, at Chautauqua, N. Y., conducting informal conferences with parents.
The remainder of the summer I am enjoying with my family at an old farmhouse in northeastern Pennsylvania my native state.

Hippo Is The Latest Pet At Police Station

Hippo is one of those kind of dogs that would make a good news reporter, a sheriff or constable.

He has plenty of nerve. Sometime ago he came to the New Castle police station, looked over the place, went up stairs, picked out a comfortable room equipped with a rug and cot and just took possession of it all.

Hippo didn't ask anyone if he lived there. He just took everything for granted, didn't even whine a bit, or wiggle his tail.

Officer U. S. Harper, Sergeant Jimmy Steiner and the rest of the police force scratched their heads in puzzlement. They wondered what action should be taken. Should they tell Hippo that he wasn't a necessary as-

Girls Of Present Day Are Slow To Marry

Have Freer Choice And Are Fond Of Their Liberty,
Says English Writer

One of the young ladies in Miss Austen's novels remarks to her sister, "Twenty-two and not married! O, Jane, I should be ashamed if I were you." And Juliet's parents were considerably worried lest she should be on the shelf at 14.

But that, says a Girl of Today in the London Daily Mail, also was a long time ago. Girls of 14 now are not so old as Juliet.

But there must be more than this to account for the change in the ages at which girls marry which has taken place in the last twenty-five years.

Our mothers generally married round about 21 and caused their mothers anxiety if they approached 25 unwed. Nowadays it is most unusual for a girl to marry in her teens; 21 is considered very young, and maidens who have passed 25 are still full of hope.

To suggest that numerous girls deliberately avoid marriage in order to live a life of selfish pleasure is, I think, unreasonable, as most of those who entertained those ignominious marriages would probably regard marriage as no great hindrance. I do think, however, that the freer and perhaps happier lives led by most unmarried girls today ought to mean far fewer loveless marriages. Now that marriages are no longer "arranged," and girls need not look on marriage as their only hope of emancipation, there is no reason why they should not wait until they are quite sure of themselves. A girl may well go about some time before she meets with "the right man," and now many of us go in for such a prolonged education that we are often late in starting the important business of looking for him.

Of course, the more one sees a lot of men the harder it is to settle down to one, and there, perhaps, our more restricted granddaughters had the advantage of us.

Tully Re-Elected Head Of Y Board

Marks His Third Successive Year As President Of Association

ANNUAL ELECTION
HELD ON TUESDAY

R. J. TULLY, general superintendent of the New Castle works, Carnegie Steel company, was re-named president of the board of directors of the local Young Men's Christian Association for a third successive term at the annual election of officers held when the board convened in the Y. M. C. A. for its regular September meeting Tuesday.

Vice President George E. Lyon and Treasurer J. F. Rentz were also re-elected for the coming year, while Herbert S. Christman was chosen secretary of the board.

To fill two directorships made vacant by resignations tendered a short time ago, the board elected Daniel B. Woolcock and Attorney Roy Mercer active members of the association.

Following the election the directors discussed the part they will take in this year's Community Chest drive and considered other matters of routine business. President Tully presided.

Sweden has as many different dialects as it has provinces—ranging from the half-swallowed Danish-like talk of Scania to the high-pitched sing-song speech of Dalecarlia. But although the dialects of the country people are confusing, they use the same words in most cases and a short residence among the inhabitants is sufficient to bring a glimmering of understanding, even to the person acquainted only with Stockholmese.

There is one language, however, which utterly defies comprehension by anyone not brought up with it and strangely enough it has found its origin in the heart of Stockholm—the largest city of the country. Soderamerik, in "South American," as it is called, is spoken more or less as a slang by people living on the large island of "Soder," which lies on the south side of Lake Maclaren and the South Lake. Some of the expressions are slang—taken from pure Swedish, but many are of foreign origin. Most of the words are variations of foreign nouns, verbs and adjectives, which have been brought home from dozens of different countries by sailors.

A study of the speech would be prevented by the fact that it changes from day to day, depending upon which foreign lands Swedish ships have visited.

Bo Broadway by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press
NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—You'd think that with all the world chugging round on wheels the sale of shoes would suffer.

Evidently they don't. A New York dealer in Bunions & Blisters is erecting a new shop on the Bow de la Quince, and the entrance alone is costing half a million.

SUBSTITUTE
Old Doc. Fishbein, editor of the Journal of American Medical Association, talking about psychology and the alcohol cure, says that it is difficult to effect any permanent cure in the alcoholic patient without substituting something to take the place of the alcohol.

There was a man one time at the old Vendome Hotel on Broadway who was putting up a magnificent battle against the old hooch. The Doc had told him that whenever he felt this craving for a drink the best thing to do would be to eat something.

One night, late, he called up the hotel desk from his room in great excitement.

"Hurry up!" he shouted. "The man is the next room has just shot himself. Get me a ham sandwich."

SEASONING
The college girl, according to a recent survey by cosmetic manufacturers, "inclines toward a fragrance fresh and outdoorsy."

Like the stout lady who invaded the perfume department of a New York department store last April, and said to the saleswoman:

"I want something that will make me smell like Spring!"

UNIVERSAL EXPERIENCE
Alice Duer Miller, the scribbler, says that "every person ought to write at least one novel—the story of his or her own personal background."

They all do, and the trouble comes when, not satisfied with having written it, they want to see it in book form.

You have no conception of the amount of drivel that daily finds its way into the shops of publishers. Each manuscript has to be scanned. Tucked away somewhere among the thousand bundles of blah may repose the single gem, and there aren't enough of these gems going round to take a chance on missing one.

Publishers employ men and women—courageous souls—whose ask it is to dive daily into the flood of unsolicited manuscripts in quest of The Pearl of Great Price.

The stories these men and women have to tell would bring tears to your eyes.

NAMES
Speakeasy proprietors in the Alcohol Belt have endowed their Wild Out "Clubs" with arty monickers. A dismal little place goes by the name of "The Pen and Pencil Club." Another dirty little hideaway is called "The Newspaper Club." And, of course, there is "The Artists and Writers." "The Illustrators," and a score of others.

Some of them aren't so bad. Others are terrible. These usually are the places whose proprietors, in their poor, broken way, have tried to express the popular conception of "artistic abandon."

All Day Meeting At Hoover Heights

Various Missionary Alliance Ministers Taking Part In Daily Services

Another intensely interesting service was held Tuesday evening at the Hoover Heights Tabernacle, Morris street. The song service was in charge of Mr. A. J. Gooch. Mrs. Ada Anderson and Mrs. Amy Scripture sang "When My Eyes Beheld the King."

Rev. H. S. Miller who is speaking each night spoke from the second chapter of Ephesians. He emphasized what Christians are saved from, and the power of the Cross of Christ; the need to process and the results of the new birth. The message closed with a picture of the Church as the stones in the Spiritual Temple which is being erected by the Holy Spirit for the dwelling place of God.

Tomorrow there will be an All Day meeting. The day will be spent in services and fellowship between services.

Rev. E. C. Anderson, pastor of the Gospel Tabernacle, Pearson street, will bring a brief message at the morning session, which begins at 10:30.

Rev. T. J. Keegan of the Moravia Stop branch will have charge of the music at the afternoon service. There will be special selection, both instrumental and vocal. Rev. H. S. Miller will bring a message.

The evening service at 7:30. The Mixed Quartet from the Gospel Tabernacle will sing several selections. Mrs. Wink and Mrs. Rigby will also sing, accompanied with the guitars. Rev. Miller will speak on the subject will be other unannounced features.

Tonight Rev. Miller will speak on "Prayer for Power."

HELD FOR COURT
In a hearing held in the office of Alderman J. Lee Cooper of East Long avenue this morning, in which Tom Albert was charged with desertion and non-support of his wife and six children by M. B. Hogue, director of poor of Lawrence county, the case was held for December court.

There were many dignitaries of the nation in the reviewing stand including Governors, Mayors and a cabinet officer.

The post of honor at the right hand of Mayor James M. Curley, of Boston, was reserved for William Randolph Hearst, publisher. The Mayor termed Mr. Hearst "The one American who had earned the right to this distinction" for his exposure of the secret Anglo-French naval treaty.

Beside the honor guest were seated secretary of the navy Charles Francis Adams, of famous colonial ancestry, and Mayor Reuben Salter, of another Boston city, that of England. It was from the British Boston that Governor John Winthrop, first governor of Massachusetts, chose the name for the little settlement in the wilderness.

Michael Zajac is On Trial At Court Today For Assault And Battery

Michael Zajac was placed on trial before Judge Chambers in county court this morning on a charge of assault and battery, made by his wife, Mary Zajac. According to the testimony of Mrs. Zajac they were married in 1905 and have several children.

They have not been getting along well of late and have been living separately although in the same house. Zajac occupied the cellar, where he did his own cooking, while Mrs. Zajac with the children, occupied the balance of the house.

On August 9th one of the children went into the cellar and took a towel to wipe her hands. It is claimed that Zajac objected and charged her up stairs where other members of the family joined in the trouble.

Zajac is alleged to have caught his daughter Joanna, by the throat, and was choking her when Mrs. Zajac interfered. Zajac promptly knocked his wife down and as she was getting up, it is claimed that he again struck her. The case is still trial.

More Buoyant Tone For Steel Industry

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17.—Scattered evidences of a breaking away from hand to mouth buying, the first deviation from that policy in months, has given the iron and steel market a more buoyant tone during the past week, Iron Age will say tomorrow in its weekly review of the market.

No sweeping change in the attitude of the trade has yet developed but a willingness to contract ahead for the remainder of the year and even into 1931 has brought about the belief that prices have struck bottom and that liberal investments at the present levels will prove a god investment.

Pig iron buyers have led the trend toward liberalism with buyers of finished steel still remaining somewhat conservative.

Considerable encouragement has been gathered from the increase in demand for sheets and strip, which thus far this month has been 10 to 20 per cent greater than the first part of August.

The price situation has undergone little change—scrap markets are quiet and there have been no new developments in pig iron prices.

The Iron Age composite prices are unchanged—unfinished steel at 2.142c a pound, pig iron at $16.88 a gross ton and heavy melting scrap at $13.75 a gross ton.

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—This cradle city of American liberty today celebrated the birth of new world freedom with the Cabots and the Winthrops rubbing patriotic elbows with the Finnegans and the Kells.

Three hundred years ago a handful of firm-jawed colonists began a new civilization in establishing the Massachusetts Bay colony. With a rifle in one hand and an axe in the other they carved the beginning of a great city and country from virgin forest land.

Today more people than lived in the early 13 American colonies turned out to cheer New England's greatest parade commemorating the tercentenary celebration.

It was estimated that between two and three million persons were jammed along the line of march as the eight-hour parade got under way.

Narrow Range In Today's Market

Bears Make Attack And Force
Stock Prices To Drop
Few Points

STEEL INDUSTRY
NEWS IS GOOD

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor.
NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The stock market moved in an unusually narrow price range today, with price under control of professionals. The bears made an attack on amusement stocks, coppers and specialties in the forenoon, forcing Paramount down 2 points.

Better news from the steel industry, chiefly that big unusual increase in demand for sheets and strip, which thus far this month has been 10 to 20 per cent greater than the first part of August.

The price situation has undergone little change—scrap markets are quiet and there have been no new developments in pig iron prices.

The Iron Age composite prices are unchanged—unfinished steel at 2.142c a pound, pig iron at $16.88 a gross ton and heavy melting scrap at $13.75 a gross ton.

Paramount bore the brunt of the selling in the amusement group and was forced off about two points to 58-1/4. Warner Brothers, Loews Radio-Keith dropped off fractionally, but rallied promptly when pressure was withdrawn.

Stock sales at noon totaled less than 500,000 shares, one of the duller days of the month to date. Call money loaned at 2 per cent on the board with competition in the outside market at 1 1/2 per cent.

Moderate Upward Move
Columbia Gas and American Waterworks were the leaders in a moderate upward move of the utilities in the early afternoon. Gains rarely exceeded a point, but what is generally considered "good buying" was indicated in that section of the list. The gas and electric shares were in good demand as also the stocks of companies with promising natural gas properties.

The whole market slipped again in the goldrums in the third hour. Profit-taking flattened out the industrial and utilities which sold out in front of the rest of the list in the preceding period. Republican iron and steel reacting to 35 3-4 and big steel to 169.

That permanent improvement has not yet come into the grain and commodity markets was evident from the sagging prices for wheat, copper, rubber and other materials.

Dry Candidates In New York Victors

Dry Candidates In New York Backed By Regular Republicans Win Primaries

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Dry candidates, backed by the regular organization, won with few exceptions in congressional contests in New York's state primary Tuesday, incomplete returns today indicated.

Representative S. Wallace Dempsey of the 40th congressional district, including parts of Erie and Niagara counties, appeared among the exceptions. Dempsey was behind on early returns, his anti-dry opponent, Walter G. Andrews, having a lead of more than 2,000 votes. Dempsey is chairman of the rivers and harbors committee.

Mrs. Ruth Pratt, New York City's anti-prohibition Republican woman member of congress, won renomination easily over George Hiram Mann, Brooklyn lawyer. The vote favored Mrs. Pratt almost 15 to 1.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Dry victories scored in up-state's primary election contests in Tuesday's primary election were cut today with incomplete returns indicating the defeat of Representative S. Wallace Dempsey, chairman of the house rivers and harbors committee. It was indicated that Walter Gresham Andrews of Buffalo would defeat Dempsey by from 1,000 to 2,000 votes.

Andrews is an avowed anti-prohibitionist.

The dries also lost in the 32nd senatorial district, where Senator Thomas E. Brown was running behind Alexander C. Bator of Saratoga.

In the 24th congressional district, made up of the Bronx and Westchester county, Benjamin L. Fairchild, a wet, defeated Charles S. Withers, dry.

In almost all other contests prohibition candidates were successful.

Mrs. Ruth Pratt, congresswoman from New York City, won renomination on the Republican ticket by a large vote.

Commission Orders
Erie Man To Cease
Operating Carrier

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 17.—The public service commission today directed C. H. McKuhan, Erie, to cease operation as a common carrier in that city.

The commission also announced its intention of asking the department of revenue to revoke the registration of an automobile owned by McKuhan as well as his operator's license. The commission also charged that McKuhan owns another automobile registered in the name of C. H. McKeehan.

In a previous action of the commission against McKuhan he was arrested and fined for operating as a common carrier without having his automobile properly registered.

Five Women On State Ballots In Fall Voting

Women Are Candidates On All Parties Except Republicans And Liberal

WOMAN SEEKING SUPERIOR COURT

(From News Bureau) (State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 17.—The November ballots in Pennsylvania this year will carry the names of five women who are candidates for State-wide office. These women are seeking election to all positions except the governorship and United States Senate.

Women are candidates on all parties except the Republican and Liberal. The latter party, while pre-empted to name a complete State ticket, has chosen only a candidate for governor. The nominee of that party is John M. Hemphill, West Chester, the standard bearer of the Democrats.

The prohibition party has nominated two women for State-wide office. Miss Ida G. Kast, of Mechanicsburg, an attorney, is the candidate for the Superior Court and Mrs. Mabel D. Pennock, Lansdown, the nominee for lieutenant governor.

Lucy D. Winston who comes from the same town as Miss Kast is the Democratic nominee for Secretary of Internal Affairs.

Among the candidates opposing Mrs. Pennock for lieutenant governor is another woman. She is the nominee of the Socialist party. Her name is Mary Winsor, of Havertford. The other women who seek State-wide office is Charlotte F. Jones, of Paoli. She is a resident of Paoli and is a candidate for election to the Supreme Court.

Three women are candidates for the State Senate while the only aspirants for Congress in each of the thirty-six districts of the State are men.

The Communist, Socialist and Democratic parties each have a single candidate among the entries for the Senate.

More than a dozen women are nominees for election to the House of Representatives. The Republican and Democratic parties each have four female candidates for the House. Of the quartet of Republican nominees three of them have served in the lower branch of the legislature.

Autoists Must Be Prepared To Have Cars Meet Tests

Many Questions Will Be Asked By Authorized Examining Stations Soon

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 17.—Are brakes right and lamps properly focused?

Is the steering assemblage in good condition?

Will the windshield wiper wipe, is there a mirror, and is the license plate obscured or unobscured?

These are some of the questions which will be answered by authorized examining stations during Pennsylvania's annual motor vehicle inspection period, which began September 15 and will end October 31.

"I want to say to motor car owners of Pennsylvania that if they have reason to believe they are being 'gyped' or imposed upon by any examiner, they should notify the bureau of motor vehicles at once," said Commissioner Benjamin G. Eynon. "There is enough horn-swaggering and skulduggery in this world without permitting such practices under state sanction, and if it is proved to our bureau that an individual or company has used his official status to conduct a private buccaneering venture that individual's or company's permit will be revoked at once."

Upwards of 100 stations which officiated in last year's examinations are among the missing in 1930. They were shown to employ mechanics of doubtful mediocre ability.

"Scarface" Capone Hunted As Vagrant

Capone Along With 24 Other Gangsters Ordered Arrested As Vagrants

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—"Scarface" Al Capone, overlord of Chicago's gangs, and 24 other gangsters branded as "public enemies" by the crime commission, were being sought today on vagrancy warrants sworn out by Municipal Judge John H. Lyle.

Chicago's entire police force, consisting of 6,000 men, were ordered to join the hunt for Capone and the others. The warrants make it possible for the state to proceed against the gangsters under the broad Illinois vagabond act of 1874, a forgotten statute revived during the latest drive on racketeers and gunmen.

Danny Stanton, Capone aid and one of those named in the warrants, was captured yesterday after a chase and will be arraigned today.

Rogues Gallery Interesting Part Of City Police Station

Much more interesting than the old family album is the collection of pictures at the New Castle police station.

During the past 10 or 15 years the rogues' gallery has grown to quite large proportions. Every time the police officers have an especially clever pickpocket, shop lifter, killer or troublesome 20-minute yegg, they get his photo and add it to the album of rogues.

It really is interesting to look over the pictures in rogues' gallery. There is no certain type represented. The men most all look about middle age at the time their pictures were taken and the women look around 30 and 40 years of age. Expressions of rebellion stand out in most of the pictures. Some seem little worried at having their pictures snapped for the rogues' gallery—others have a scared rabbit look on their faces.

In the same room where the pictures are, can be seen the apparatus with which they were taken. The prisoner is seated in a small chair, back of which is a white blind that is lighted when the photographer is ready. Another light is located on top of the stationary camera.

According to Officer U. S. Harper, some prisoners object strenuously to having their picture taken. They cover their face with their hands, etc. But for the most part they are submissive.

A front and side view of the head is taken, for reference purposes, and after the picture is finished, the name and record of the prisoner is written on the back, and the most serious charges against him.

Work Progressing On Re-decorating

First Christian Church Will Be Model Tabernacle When Work Is Completed

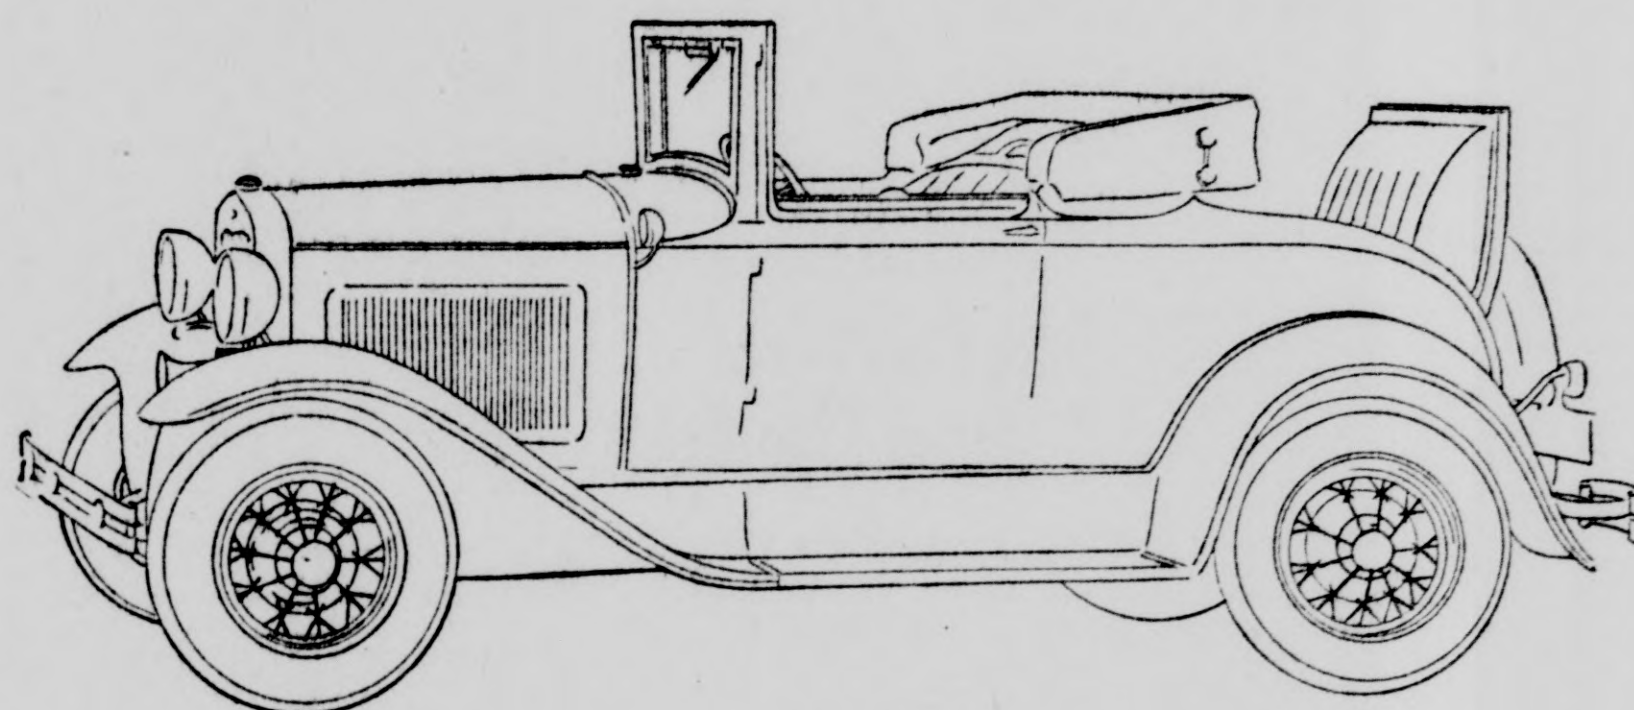

All is a buzz of activity at the First Christian church on the public square. Changes are being made and by October the church will be so classically appearing that the large congregation will be quite pleasantly surprised.

At the present time the auditorium is a mass of unsightly rafters, nails, boards and crumpled plaster—

Dome light and cowl lights are standard equipment. Selection in body colors includes Maroon, Keweenaw Green, Childie Drab and Black. Seat is adjustable.

NEW FORD DE LUXE SEDAN

A striking example of the rich finish that characterizes all of these new Ford de luxe bodies. For upholstery you may choose either fashionable Bedford cord or luxurious mohair. Driver's seat is adjustable. Wide rear seat has a folding center arm and side arm rests. Cowl lights are standard equipment. There is a wide variety of body colors.

but that is just a phase of progress in its evolving into a beautiful, modern and model auditorium. Then the front halls are torn up and will later be put back together in much better order than ever before. The front lawn has been treated and cared for and cut. The old iron fence is being torn down from the side of the building. Electricians are working at the wiring of the auditorium lighting effects and will soon commence work on installing the gigantic clock in the church tower. When everything is completed the First Christian church will be a landmark of which to be very proud.

Missionary From Africa Describes Customs There

Tales of Africa were told last night by Miss Cecilia Lewis of Marshfield, to the members of the Quaker Auxiliary of the First Methodist church, meeting at the home of Mrs. Fred L. Renz, Edison avenue. Miss Lewis is a returned missionary from Africa and is at her home in this city on furlough.

A number of questions were asked Miss Lewis in regard to the language, food, clothing, and living quarters of the district where she is stationed in the Dark Continent, and Miss Lewis answers revealed many facts of great interest.

Rice is one of the main food products there. Peanuts, sweet potatoes that are much drier than those grown in United States, and cassava are also included on the dinner table. Cassava is a root and is made into a dry white powder and serves often as a breakfast food.

Miss Lewis, upon arriving in United States, after her long absence, was surprised to see the large sized chickens here. They were quite a contrast to the skippy little chickens she has been used to seeing during her long stay in Africa.

Sheep and goats here are quite different from those in Africa. The African goats and sheep have no wool at all, nature having fitted them for the very hot climate. The two kinds of animals look so much alike that missionaries have a difficult time trying to tell them apart. But it isn't long until they discover that the surest way to tell is by the way the animals carry their tails, up or down.

Natives are quite tricky and have many novel ways of getting the best of bargains. When selling thatching for roofs they have been known to make the bundles heavier by putting ant hills inside, and once a native sold a missionary a pan full of the same rice five or six times, before it was discovered that the rice was not being left in the kitchen as was supposed. Another time a native took the daily egg laid by the chicken owned by one of the missionaries and sold it to the owner of the chicken. That went on for several days.

The African doesn't use sugar. He doesn't know what sugar is but will eat it when he is told that it is "white man's honey," for then he knows that it is something sweet. Neither does he use salt. Food is never seasoned. When the African pares potatoes he ways pares with the knife outward. When asked why he doesn't pare toward himself, the answer is usually "Why don't you do our way?" The African designates his right hand as the hand you eat rice with, and the left hand as the hand you don't eat with. African women make the thread of their native garb. Different tribes have different weaves.

Miss Lewis has learned the language of the tribe of the district where she stays. It is a spoken language and is written. It is a musical language as was shown when Miss Lewis repeated the Lord's Prayer in the African language, last night.

DEFENDS BLACK BIRDS

Editor News:

I see by The News that Cow Blackbirds have been congregating in certain parts of New Castle to the annoyance of the residents; until the police have been killing them off, on the complaint of the said residents, because they have been making too much noise.

I suppose they were collecting together in flocks preparatory to going South for the winter, and were holding little celebrations on account of it. But for this alone, do they deserve death, and to be called pests. All summer long these same birds have been acting as bodyguards to one or more cows, protecting them from blood sucking flies that come up from the grass; suck their fill of blood from the first cow that comes along, then drop back into the grass and sleep off its big feed until it gets hungry and some other cow comes along, then the process is repeated, until it dies of old age. Right here is where the sharp eyed cow blackbird bodyguard comes in; it promptly picks up the juicy tit-bit, and that fly is no more.

Each summer the cows get poor and fail in their milk on account of blood sucking flies. The milk dealer takes advantage of it and raises the price. Some times gives the producer a small fraction of the increase; who feeds, milks, cares for the cow, and hauls the milk to town, and often pays 7 per cent on a mortgage, to give him the right to do so. These residents and police of New Castle are to a certain extent responsible for the late summer increase in the price of their own milk.

Is it right, is it fair to the cow that cheerfully gives up her milk; that babies may live and properly develop; that ailing, indiscreet, and dissipated humanity may regain health and strength again—that she has often to wander over poor unshaded pastures, without proper bird protection against blood sucking insect pests; until her sides are often stained red with her own blood—and also to be confined or crowded into close, poorly ventilated dairy barns to contract tuberculosis and finally die an ignominious death—Often compelled to lie on a bare cement floor, where rest is impossible.

There is nothing on God's green earth too good for this uncrowned queen of domesticated animals—If had the words of Walt Mason and the language of Washington Irving, would pay a tribute to her, that would make that of Ex-Governor Patterson's of Tennessee look commonplace. If I had my way she would wander through well watered pastures with an ample escort of Cow-Blackbirds with lots of Barn Swallows and Martins combing the air for winged insects as well—and stand and chewer quid on the high places, under beautiful shade trees—that she be stabled in dry, well ventilated barns with soft, clean beds of straw to rest in; with at least 1600 square feet of air space for every cow, where tuberculosis will soon become unknown. ARTHUR WRIGHT.

Motor Club Warns Speed Trap Exists

Butler County Motor Club Sends Word To Be On Lookout

That bane of the motorist, a "speed trap" has again been established on Route 422 between Worthington and Kittanning, according to a notice received by the New Castle Motor club from the Butler County Motor club.

Some time ago this section of road was a speed trap but the authorities who were responsible agreed to discontinue the iniquitous practice of harassing motorists. Now they are at it again it appears, and local motorists who traverse the section of road mentioned, should remember that somewhere along the road will probably be a snooper who is endeavoring to make an arrest.

Road Congress Tour May Stop In New Castle

B. N. Hanlon, manager of the New Castle Motor club has received notice from the American Automobile association that following the Sixth International Road Congress in Washington, D. C., several tours will leave the capital city.

Tour number three will leave Washington on the night of October 12th, arriving in Pittsburgh on the morning of the 13th. At nine a. m. the tour leaves Pittsburgh for Youngstown, O. over the Baltimore and Ohio. It has been suggested that a stop of the road delegates be made at New Castle.

Benefit Recital Tickets In Demand

Indications Are That Immense Crowd Will Attend Sue Harvard Concert

Tickets for the Sue Harvard benefit recital for the Jameson Memorial hospital are being disposed of rapidly, according to a checkup of the sales situation today. Little difficulty is being experienced by the men and women back of the sales and it is anticipated that the recital will attract a crowd to the Cathedral auditorium on September 30.

All the boxes are sold. The demand for boxes was so great that it was necessary to take over some of the auditorium seats and designate them as boxes. Not even any of these are left now.

Ticket agencies have been established in the following downtown stores: Martha Bigley Shoppe, McKinley & Frantz drug store and Love & McGowan's. The seat reservation will start Monday, September 22, in Snyder's piano store on North Mercer street.

The recital of Miss Harvard here is one that should mark a high water mark for such things. It is a gesture of courtesy upon the part of the artist, who is a former New Castle girl, to the people of her home city, and a means of providing funds for the Jameson Memorial hospital. Not alone will Miss Harvard appear in the recital. With her will be a group of other artists who have made reputations for themselves in the world of music.

Learn Whereabouts Of Former Members Of Loose Nut Club

Members Of One Time Famous Camping Organization Scattered To Four Winds

Majority Have Joined Matrimonial Ranks—Death Calls One Member Of Club

(Contributed)

What has become of the members of the Loose Nut Club is a question propounded frequently by friends and followers of that robust group of young natators who for five years encamped at New Wilmington Junction and provided thrills and recreation for thousands of residents of New Castle and surrounding districts.

A visit to the Junction today to view grounds of New Castle's one time well known organization is indeed in direct contrast to the memorable day in August 1925 when the members of that club held their annual water carnival before some two thousand interested fans who gathered there to see the boys stage their lengthy aquatic program. Exhibitions of free style, backstroke and breast stroke swimming, life saving demonstrations, fancy and high diving from boards ranging in height from four to forty feet, and the novelty stunts performed from a cable extended across the Neshannock Creek are no more.

Saved Five Lives
Many local people interested in water sports undoubtedly will recall the enjoyable evenings or Sundays spent at the Loose Nut Camp. Those energetic young men who made up the organization provided facilities for swimming at the Junction that by far excelled any swimming resort for miles around. In addition to the splendid diving boards installed at the camp, the boys had two canoes and a huge raft at the disposal of visitors, and needless to say a visit to camp always was an enjoyable as well as an entertaining one. And, too, members of the Loose Nut Club all were expert swimmers and those using the Neshannock Creek at the Junction for bathing were never in danger of submersion which may have ended disastrously because the boys were on duty from morning until night. During the five years at the Junction, the Loose Nuts had a record of saving nine persons from drowning, several of the rescues resulting from heroic efforts on the part of the boys.

Hope For Reunion

Five years have elapsed since the camp was brought to a close. Today one finds the boys scattered to all sections of the country, and whether or not the boys will ever meet again is problematical. One of the members who is rather optimistic recently wrote "perhaps when we are old and gray we may arrange for a get-together session at which time we can spend an evening reminiscing." When this day is to be no one apparently knows but the present members sincerely hope that such plans for a reunion will materialize.

For the past two or three years and even today friends of the "ol' gang" often have asked what became of the boys, and in order to please those interested in the Loose Nut Club the writer will endeavor to give brief description of each member's whereabouts and the field of endeavor at which they are engaged in today. The members follow:

John Krestel—known to friends of the organization as "Shrimp" was the comedian of the Loose Nut Club. Camping days are at end for Johnny and today he is busily engaged as Head Pressman of the Ellwood City Ledger in Ellwood City, Penna. He communicates to the "Tub" City daily, making his residence here with his mother. He is one of the surviving bachelors of the club.

William "Wege" Genkinger—Another surviving bachelor of the Loose Nut Club continues his post in the city with a local railroad agency. For several years after the Loose Nut Club disbanded "Wege" spent his summers with the Bachelor's Club, located on Vance's Farm near the Junction. He, however, also has forsaken that group and now spends his entire time in the city.

Michael Schmidt—the once famous fisherman is no longer in this vicinity. Mike is a resident of Wilderwood, California, having been on the Pacific Coast for the past several years. Mike's recent position found him as a radio technician at the R. K. O. Studios. Mike is taking great pride in two prize winning dogs, a polly parrot and some gold fish. During spare hours Mike is studying aviation and it would not be surprising to the writer should he return to New Castle by plane in future years. Mike also belongs to the bachelor ranks of the club.

George Sadler—one time "shiek" of the Loose Nut Club is a happily married man today. George gave up his work as a "tin walloper" for a white collar job and today is employed as a collector for a local store. He is living here in the city with Mrs. Sadler.

Joe "Zip" Figue—known at one time as the youthful arazan of the Apes who could consume more food than any other three individuals in the club, procured for himself a position where he would never go hungry and from latest reports is meeting with great success. Joe is a meat salesman in Gary, Indiana. He joined the matrimonial ranks shortly after camp closed for the last time and it is reported that he is doing very nicely.

Emil Durlleser—expert diver and acrobat is spending some time at present in Albuquerque, New Mexico with his wife who is undergoing treatment there for minor ailments. Emil is still active in the water and on July 4th of this year showed his wares in the New Mexico city by winning a first place in the diving event of an aquatic meet held there. Emil is the proud daddy of a two year old girl. He is at present employed as an automobile mechanic.

Andrew Hartman—one of the famed chefs of the Loose Nut Club is at present married and residing in Cleveland, Ohio. Following the close of camp in 1925 Andy matriculated at both Grove City and Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh where he was prominent in athletics. He is employed in a large show card house in Cleveland and doing well. He has forsaken swimming to a certain degree to take up handball at which game he all ready has become an expert. Andy frequently visits this city and is by no means a stranger here.

Johnny Kraft—one time "camp boss" of the Loose Nut Club entered Grove City College with Andy Hartman after the close of camp in 1925, studied there two years, transferring to Columbus University from where he was graduated in June 1929. He at present is married and living out on Long Island. He is employed in the Credit Department of The Chase National Bank in the City of New York, the largest financial institution in the world. Kraft spent his summers during his college days at Dick Victor's Camp for Boys where he continued his work as a swimming instructor. He took part in athletics both at Grove City College and at Columbus University.

Herbert Kroen—popular club member, expert swimmer and diver, and very clever basketball performer met with great misfortune in a street-car accident in Niles, Ohio last year which resulted in his death. His loss was a distinct blow to the boys and his many friends in the city.

William Hood—another benedict is a resident of this city at the present time, although for a good many months he and his wife traveled in the Western part of the United States. Billy was the club's outstanding baseball star and though he was unable to get into the "big show" he turned in some creditable performances in the minor leagues and also showed ability for local semi-pro clubs. Billy is employed at the Pennsylvania Engineering Works and this past summer confined his athletics to the national pastime sport.

Paul Diller—organist and the first president of the Loose Nut Club when the organization was in its infancy withdrew his membership when he took the first step of any of the members to become a benedict. Paul is

Three Bottles Helped Her

"I cannot praise your good medicine enough. After my baby came I was rundown. I had to go to bed often through the day. I took three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I felt like a different woman. If any other mother has those tired feelings like I had, I advise her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Harold Goodnow, 36 Cane Street, Fitchburg, Massachusetts.

the proud daddy of a bouncing baby and indeed happily married. He is employed at the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company and resides in this city.

Loyal "Odey" Foster—good ol' Odey the chief cook and bottle washer can not be forgotten in reminiscing by-gones at the Loose Nut Camp. Odey though not a member of the club was looked upon by all as one of the "Nuts", and his connection with the organization will no doubt be remembered by all. Odey joined the matrimonial ranks since his departure from camp life, and at present is employed at the Johnson Bronze Works.

Other high spots of the Loose Nut Club were the good fellowship and friendship prevailing between members of the Loose Nuts and members of the Bel-Ver-Dere Camp, the Bachelor's Camp, and the Police Camp. The boys also were indebted to the wonderful treatment accorded them by Peter May, owner of the property upon which the boys pitched their tents. Fritz Genkinger, who served one summer as cook at the Loose Nut Camp, is still remembered by the boys, and last but not least the boys again want to express their appreciation to Alec Samuels and Jack Hulme who cooperated in the staging of the annual water carnivals held each summer at New Wilmington Junction.

Open 55th Academic Year At Grove City College On Tuesday

Courses Started Earlier This Year To Insure Larger Vacations

GROVE CITY, Pa., Sept. 17.—Grove City College opened Tuesday every indication that before the week is out the 55th academic year of the school will show a total of 650 students enrolled.

School opens earlier this year to make possible longer vacation periods at Christmas and Easter time. All the college buildings have been renovated and repaired at a cost of $5,000 during the summer months.

PNEUMONIA VICTIM

Lester Williamson, well-known real estate dealer, is a pneumonia victim. Several cases of scarlet fever are reported in the community.

RECORD SATURDAY

Not an arrest for the day or evening, and not even a drunk sighted by the city police force was Saturday's record. The report is made by Police Chief Ray, who fails to remember a Saturday night as quiet in his decade of service as a police officer.

The five arrests made this spring in bootlegging circles are responsible for the arid condition here.

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

The religious school for Grove City will open in early October. It is made known today. The school will be conducted by the churches of the town.

Makes Address At Big Conference

M. J. Donnelly and wife have concluded a few days stay at French Lick Springs Hotel, French Lick, Indiana, where the former was one of the speakers at an educational conference for the quarter million producers of the Eastern and Greater New York Departments of the Equitable Life Assurance Society. He spoke on Tuesday and his subject was "Knowing Your Community and Building Good Will."

Farmer Would Like To Know Food Value

Robert M. Russell, New Castle R. D. No. 4, is considerably interested in Swiss Chard as a food and would like to know the value of this garden product as a food in vitamins. If the person who has this information will give it to The News, it will be published for Mr. Russell and others, who may be interested.

Over Three Hundred Entries In Rose Avenue Flower Show

Even the nature study teacher who had made the plans for the flower show, Miss Mortydy Owens, was astounded at the large number of gorgeous blooms brought to the school auditorium by the Rose avenue school students.

Tuesday's flower show was an outstanding success in every sense of the phrase. There were 329 entries and included an astonishingly wide variety of flowers. Vegetable exhibits, grown in the gardens of the youngsters, were also shown.

Judging took place Tuesday afternoon. The judges, Mrs. W. D. Fullerton, Mrs. C. R. Brenner and Mrs. Charles Richardson, had no easy task in choosing the superior exhibits. There were wonderful baskets of snapdragons, pansies, petunias, gladioli, butterfly bush, golden rod, corn flowers, centaurea, callipis-tinctoria, calendula, French forget-me-nots, a water lily, marigolds and orange, pink, red and yellow dahlias.

Then too there were the vegetable and fruit exhibits—green and yellow string beans, beets, a five foot radish, pumpkins, pretty, shined tomatoes, potatoes, grapes, corn, carrots, egg plants and peppers.

But the judges finally came to the conclusion that the exhibits of the 6A class and the 1B class were the most outstanding. They also decided on the following individual exhibit awards:

Anna Stinas, Dorothy Young, Dorothy McElroy, 5B; Rilla Mae Allsopp, Gilbert Colnot, Elizabeth Muehecko, 6A; Alfred Hook, Marjorie Harris, Marjorie Harris, 4B; Mary Campbell, Mary Campbell, Mary Campbell, 5A; Dorothy Frey, Ruth Kragmont, Edys Davenport, 6B; Jack Reese, George Bame, June Syling, 2A; America Ferrari, Doris McGuffie, Pearson Dean, 1B; Roberta Wimer, Julia Wideko, 1A; Julia Dodo, Miles Panella, Eugene Burford, 3B; Patricia Chapman, Bobby Sweet, Anna Work, 5A; Joanna Hood, David Schoenfeld, Grace Irwin, 3A; Martha Reider, Virginia Lee Pence, Jack Steel, 3B; Mary Campbell, Mary Campbell, 5A; Betty Haybarger, Reed Sager, Betty Hannon, 2B; Geraldine Sanford, Pat Panella, Pat Panella, 4A.

William Hockenberry, janitor of Rose Avenue school, brought some splendid exhibits. His exhibits included flowers of many sorts—and a particularly lovely and unique exhibit of his was the lavender colored burning Bush-Kochia.

Among the vegetables brought by the pupils was an oxheart tomato—an unusual variety not often seen. This is the first time that such show has been held at Rose avenue school and it proved of such great success that it is safe to say that the flower show will be an annual event. Rose avenue students are greatly interested in gardening and raising flowers, as was shown by the number of baskets they brought to Tuesday's flower show.

Double Rainbow Embraces City Of Ellwood Tuesday

People Forget Rain To Gaze At Rainbow, Trouble And Cares Cast Aside

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 17.—A gentle shower, a rainbow, a double rainbow, why not? At 7 o'clock, Ellwood City stopped in its hurry to go no place last evening. Some stopped to gaze at beauty, others to ponder. As the misty rain changed to that of a more soaking and theatrical quality it did not cause them to find cover.

Never before had Ellwood seen such a perfect rainbow. It not only enveloped the city, folded in its embrace, it seemed to promise happier and brighter days, and the promise seemed to be bound tighter by that second rainbow which although only a misty replica crept closer to the city, and seemed a friendly little thing.

As the rain fell harder and harder the master artist seemed to glory in his work, using every color on his palette. The colors of brightest orange were blended with pale heliopes, reds, blues and greens.

The children waded along the streets and laughed as the rain soaked their bathing suits.

The sky brightened, the rain stopped. Silver clouds piled up in the west. The little sun beams had scampered to their bed and had been tucked under the great blanket of white cloud by Mother Nature, who then turned on the stars so that her little sunbeams would not be frightened by the dark.

Contractor Donates Work For G. S. Hut

Eighty Five Registered Scouts
Members Of Local Troops

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 17.—James Kirker, contractor of Wurttemberg will give his services in building the Girl Scout hut which is to be erected this fall on the land by the Slippery Rock, recently leased to them.

Members of the girl scout troops of Ellwood City are kept busy daily clearing the field of tall grass and timber, in readiness for their new home to be enjoyed not only by all-night hikers, but by those who simply drop in for a few moments to warm themselves by the big fire which promises to be one of the attractions. Promised by the draughting made by architect, B. J. McCandless.

Miss Margaret Bennett, captain of the Nightingale troop has started a contest among her three patrols to cover a period of five weeks, the last two of which the new girls made members are to be registered scouts. The winning patrol is to be given a Halloween party of no mean merit.

At the present time Ellwood City has 85 registered girl scouts enrolled.

The members are Mildred George, Marjorie Streeter, Grace Brown, Mildred Bryant, Elsie Parrel, Florence Hartung, Clara Ritchie and Dorothy Tomb.

The club has been named "Tally-Ho" and promises to flourish as the winter season draws near.

Miss Tomb was hostess at the christening and served delicious refreshments. For acknowledged high favor Mildred George and Marjorie Streeter were presented gifts.

Miss Grace Brown will entertain the new club at her home in Third street in three weeks.

North Side W.C.T.U. Has Corn Roast In Koppel On Tuesday

Women And Children From Ellwood Enjoy Social Time At Harold Marshall Home

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 17.—Mrs. Harold Marshall's home in Koppel was the scene of a pleasant meeting of the North Side W. C. T. U. of Ellwood City last night.

Thirty-nine members of the organization with their children were present for the business meeting at which time interesting reports were received from representatives of the county convention in New Castle.

The business session was held in the home and later the party repaired to the lawn where a large bonfire was built and wieners and corn roasted in the hot coals, while the women enjoyed a social time and the children sang.

Committees appointed by the new president, Mrs. W. K. Ramsay are: Mrs. Frank Blaine, superintendent of narcotics; Mrs. Matilda McPate, flower mission; Mrs. Sarah Boggs and Mrs. George Hindmarch, institutes; Mrs. Sarah Boggs and Mrs. Tina Houk, medal contest; Mrs. J. W. Marshall, publicity; Mrs. Frank Potter, soldier and sailors; Mrs. Elizabeth Cunningham, union signal.

Society And Class Have Tureen Dinner

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 17.—Fifty members of the Woman's Missionary society of the First Christian church assembled in the church dining room last evening for a tureen dinner. The progressive Sunday school class members and husbands were special guests of the occasion.

The program arranged by the missionary society included a number of delightful features, namely, a solo by Mrs. W. D. Porter and a solo by Mrs. Arthur Howell. The missionary play concerning an African mission featured by Mrs. V. V. Johnson, Dr. Anna McKinley and Mrs. Thomas Rogers.

Class Plans Picnic
At Sewickely Home

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 17.—The Young Men's Bible class of the Bell Memorial Presbyterian church has invited class number four to be special guests at the corn and wieners roast to be held at the home of their former teacher, Thayer Peters, of Sewickely, Thursday night.

A number of motors will be provided and the young people look forward to a jolly evening with Mr. Peters and his family.

Mrs. W. E. Bayers Entertains Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 17.—The Dinner Bridge club was entertained by Mrs. W. E. Bayers of Pershing street Tuesday night. Score favors were awarded Mrs. W. R. Johnston and Mrs. Thomas Wilson.

When the hostess served refreshments following the games, she was assisted by Mrs. Carl Davidson.

Mrs. Walter Closs of Wayne avenue will entertain the club at her home in two weeks.

Plan To Attend Synod Meetings

ZELLENOPLE, Sept. 17.—Zenas McMichael of this place will represent the local United Presbyterian church at the First Synod of the West, to be held at New Castle next week. The meeting will open Monday evening and continue until Wednesday morning. Rev. Joseph B. Brown, pastor of the local congregation will attend the meetings also. Mr. McMichael is an elder, and will attend as a layman.

New Castle Assured Of Chance For State Automotive Meeting

Secretary Of Pennsylvania Group
Writes Local Auto Dealers'
Secretary

That New Castle has an excellent chance to obtain the 1931 convention of the Pennsylvania Automotive association was the information contained in a letter just received by Ray P. Hall, manager of the New Castle Credit Exchange and secretary of the New Castle Automobile Dealers association, from C. S. Ksclugh, secretary of the state group.

The Pennsylvania Automotive association, which is meeting in Reading in October for the 1930 convention, usually draws about 500 delegates at each gathering.

Ksclugh came to New Castle a short time ago to investigate this city's convention facilities. His visit apparently was successful for he announced before leaving that the city may be the scene of the automotive convention.

The New Castle Automobile Dealers association, of which A. C. McCoy is the president, has extended an invitation to the state group to hold the 1931 convention here.

Delegates at the Reading convention will vote on the place for the 1931 convention.

Two Hundred At Formal Opening Of New Building; Division Heads Present

Two hundred, including 60 representatives from bakeries in Lawrence, Mercer and Beaver counties attended the formal opening of the new $25,000 New Castle branch building of the Standard Brands, Inc. East Lawrence and South Mercer streets, Tuesday evening.

Dancing and other entertainment featured the evening affair. Harry Elster, Pittsburgh division manager, and William Gough, assistant Pittsburgh division manager, were in attendance.

The new office-warehouse building will distribute baker's yeast and other supplies in the local district. E. E. Matheson is the local sales agent.

Six trucks are operating out of the New Castle headquarters at its inception.

Men's Bible Class Sets Goal Of 200 At Baptist Church

The Men's Bible class of the First Baptist church, of which George Fox is president, is striving hard to make a record attendance Sunday at Sabbath school and have set a goal of 200 for attendance.

This marks the annual Fall Rally Day in the Sunday School as well as in the Bible class.

There will be special music under the leadership of "Red" Williams, with John Owens at the piano and the Men's Chorus of the class will have some excellent numbers and the lesson will be taught by Rev. G. M. Landis, pastor of the church, as well as teacher of the Men's class. Rev. Landis is teaching a series of lessons on the Ark of the Covenant and he is making the lessons especially interesting with a colored map and illustrations.

Stiff Breeze Is Blowing Today For Third Yacht Race

By JACK LAWRENCE
International News Service Sports

ABOARD THE U. S. S. KANE, OFF NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 17.—A brisk southwesterly breeze was blowing across Newport harbor this morning as Enterprise and Shamrock V made ready to start in their third race for the America's Cup. Enterprise, the defender, has already won two successive victories and needs but two more to capture the series.

Commander W. D. Taylor of the U. S. S. Kane estimated the velocity of the wind at 10 a. m. to be about fifteen miles an hour. Visibility was good and there were excellent prospects of an existing race. The race was to be over a thirty-mile windward and leeward course.

Pennsy Traffic Is Delayed By Wreck

(International News Service)
NORRISTOWN, Pa., Sept. 17.—Twenty-three cars of a Pennsylvania railroad freight train piled up on the Trenton branch two miles east of here early today tying up traffic for several hours. A car became derailed causing the other 22 cars to jump the track.

No one was injured, the members of the crew escaping by leaping from the train.

Fate Unkind To Most Artist-Model Unions

Statistics Prove The Show Girls Go In Heavily For Modeling—End In Marriage But Fail In Combination Of Model And Wife

HELENE CLIVE - MRS. HOWARD C. CHRISTY - HELENE MARIE HASTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Quite a lot of romances lately have had their inception in an artist's studio. And quite a lot of them, too, have ended there. Many a story has been written around the theme of the lovely artist's model and the famous artist. The plot generally describes the romance, the marriage and then the necessity of the artist to find another model, with the result that instead of being a model union, it becomes a muddled one.

In real life, too, many famous models have married famous artists, men who have immortalized their beauty, and so brought them renown. Many of these marriages have been happy, but a great many of them have also gone on the rocks.

McClelland Barclay, famous artist, has just married lovely Helene Haskin, who was the inspiration for his "Fisher body girl." She is a society girl, who, wearying of an anemic round of teas, luncheons, dinners and dances, made a place for herself in the theatre, and from that achievement took up modelling. It is interesting to recall that Barclay's first wife was also a society girl. He married her in 1916, and declared that he had done so because she had "the most beautiful legs, the trimmest ankles, and the shapeliest legs in the world." Fourteen years later, despite his fervent assertions of her beauty, he allowed her to divorce him. Barclay declared that he had never seen a model to compare to her. Just nine months later came the news of his marriage to another model, Helene Haskin.

The second wife of Ben Ali Haggin, millionaire, renowned artist and decorator for Ziegfeld's Follies, was Bonnie Glass, a dancer, who had modeled for the debonair Haggin. After a few years of marriage they parted. Haggin's third wife, Nancy, she, too, was his model before their marriage and she still is. They share common interests and, incidentally, Mrs. Haggin is her husband's business manager, as well as critic and friend.

Other artists who married beauties and are still happily married include John La Gatta, and Clark Agnew. Helen Clive, one of Ziegfeld's prize blooms from his bouquet of beauty, is married to the famous artist, Henry Clive and it is she who poses for his colorful magazine covers. They are one of the art world's happiest couples.

Confesses Robbery To Escape Charge Of Murdering Man

Man Proves To Court That He Was Robbing Store In Cleveland

(International News Service)
MARION, O., Sept. 17.—Because he was able to prove that he was engaged in the robbery of a Cleveland store on the same night, Charles Lewis, alias Blixer, 30, was free today of charges in connection with the holdup and slaying of a filling station operator here.

The unusual alibi was called into use when Lewis was suspected in the killing of Raymond Steele, a station operator who was slain several weeks ago.

Lewis produced documents to prove that he was under indictment with a companion on a charge of attempted burglary at a store on the same night Steele was slain.

Magistrate Has Tailor Arrested

Dapper Philadelphia Magistrate Refuses To Pay 50 Cents For Suit
Pressed

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—Eddie Carney, better known as Philadelphia's dapper dancing magistrate and Henry Petroff, a tailor were scheduled for a stormy session today in the magistrate's court due to a squabble over a ten cent piece.

It isn't the dime—it's the principle of the thing that irritates the debonair Eddie.

Eddie is one of those fellows who will give thousands for charity but no one cent for tribute to a tailor.

The magistrate whose sartorial perfection is a byword in legal circles wanted his suit pressed last night and noticing a sign in Petroff's window proclaiming "Suits Pressed For 40 Cents" he hailed a bellhop and forthwith sent a suit to the tailoring establishment. When the bellhop returned he reported the tailor wanted 50 cents. Then the fun began.

"What—50 cents the magistrate exclaimed. "We'll see about this."

Thereupon he issued a warrant for Petroff's arrest on a charge of obtaining money under false pretense. The latter will face the magistrate in the latter's court today.

27. Nathanael Greene—The Chase Through North Carolina

AFTER HIS VICTORY OVER TARLETON AT COWPENS (JAN. 17, 1781) MORGAN MOVED SWIFTLY TO THE NORTHEAST TO DODGE CORNWALLIS WHO WAS MARCHING NORTH IN PURSUIT. GREENE, HEARING OF CORNWALLIS' ADVANCE, RODE POSTHASTE WITH A SMALL ESCORT TO JOIN MORGAN, LEAVING HIS ARMY IN COMMAND OF HUGER, WITH ORDERS TO MEET HIM AT GUILFORD (N.C.).

JOINING MORGAN, GREENE LED CORNWALLIS ON A LONG CHASE THROUGH NORTH CAROLINA. THE RIVERS WERE SWOLLEN FROM HEAVY RAINS, AND THE WATER WAS HIGH ABOVE THE FORDS, BUT GREENE HAD SENT MEN AHEAD TO HAVE BOATS IN READINESS, AND WAS ABLE TO KEEP WELL IN ADVANCE OF HIS PURSUERS. FEB. 14, GREENE CROSSED THE DAN RIVER INTO VIRGINIA.

THE BRITISH, WEARY FROM THE LONG CHASE, HALTED AT THE DAN; — THEN FELL BACK TO HILLSBORO. GREENE, WHO HAD BEEN STRENGTHENED BY THE ARRIVAL OF HUGER, WITH THE REST OF THE ARMY, RE-CROSSED THE DAN TO GUILFORD (FEB. 23). HERE HE WAS ATTACKED BY CORNWALLIS ON MARCH 15. TWICE THE AMERICANS REPULSED THE ASSAULTS OF THE REDCOATS.

HOWEVER, GREENE, TO SPARE HIS MEN, RETIRED AS CORNWALLIS WAS MASSING ALL HIS FORCES FOR A THIRD ASSAULT. THE BRITISH HELD GUILFORD, BUT HAD FAILED TO CRUSH GREENE. CORNWALLIS HAD LOST A THIRD OF HIS ARMY AND WAS NOW IN A DANGEROUS POSITION 230 MILES AWAY FROM HIS BASE AT CHARLESTON. MARCH 18, 1781, HE ABANDONED GUILFORD AND RETREATED WITH HIS TIRED ARMY TO WILMINGTON ON THE COAST.

Cardinals Take League Lead In Beating Dodgers

St. Louis Cardinals Lead National League After 1 To 0 Victory

ATHLETICS WIN PAIR OF GAMES

By COPELAND C. BURG, International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—You couldn't help admiring this Andy High, the "man of the hour" St. Louis Cardinal, when he walked up there in the tenth inning as a pinch hitter. He was swinging three bats, bouncing up and down on his sturdy legs like a thoroughbred racer, his face glowing with the sureness and fitness of youth. And this Andy High was fit. He cracked that ball for a smacking double and pretty soon came trotting home on Douthitt's single, scoring the run that won 1 to 0 for the Cards over Brooklyn, placing St. Louis on top of the National League heap this morning by a single point.

Carl Hubbell strung out ten Chicago Cub batters, yielded only three hits and horsecollared the late and lamented league leaders, 7 to 0. Allen's homer topped a five run hitting spree for the Giants in the eighth inning. The Cubs are now a game and a half behind the Cardinals.

Macks Win Two
The Athletics made their winning of the American League bunting practically a cinch by downing the White Sox twice. Lefty Grove scored his 27th triumph in the opener 5 to 4 and Shore captured the finale behind bunched hits 10 to 2. Washington is lagging by eight games.

Thompson, Phillies' second baseman, pulled a triple play to feature a hitting carnival, which Philadelphia snatched from the Pirates 15 to 14 in ten innings.

Seven pitchers unloaded 37 hits, the Yanks basking 33 of them to down the Browns 19 to 10. Sam Gibson, Red-Tier, fopped in his mount debut with the Yankees, retiring in the second inning.

Important hits by Dale Alexander, Detroit first baseman, pushed the Bengals out in front of Boston 7 to 5. Rain held up Cleveland and Washington and Boston and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Lefty Grove, pitcher for the Athletics, turned in his twenty seventh victory by defeating the White Sox in the first of a twin bill. The Athletics also captured the second game.

Flint Rhem, St. Louis Card pitcher is missing from the fold, in other words, A. W. O. L. It is his turn to pitch against Brooklyn today and a temporary loss of his services will affect the Cards, only one point ahead of Brooklyn.

Met Guy Ralston formerly of Meadville, Franklin, etc., last night. He formerly wrote sport. While in the auto business there, he told us last night, Walter Fleming, killed in a race here Saturday, was an employee when Ralston was manager.

Ralston was asked if Fleming was an experienced driver. Guy replied that Walter had driven in several races, mostly on fair tracks. He competed in one event, Ralston reported, at Clarion.

Paul Derringer, pitcher and George Toporcher, second baseman and captain of the Rochester team of the International league have been sold to the Cardinals, according to a report from Rochester, N. Y., today.

New York Athletic commission today in session refused to reinstate Primo Carnera who was debarred from Empire state rings, following his fight with Paul Cavalier, alleged to have been off color on the Pacific coast.

Tackles, Dinsmore, F. Morrison, Dando, Lennox and Russu.
Guards, Alferia, Cosgrove, Nessel, Fontario, Smith and Shiek.
Center, Whitman, Regan and Hill.
Backfield, Moe Reatic, Joe Young, Bud Hanlon, Ted Wallace and R. J. Brenner.

A DOG'S LIFE IS MORE IMPORTANT

Ellwood High On Union Grid Card

Union High Steps Into Big Time Grid World On September 27 By Meeting Ellwood

TEN VETERANS ON UNION'S TEAM

Ellwood City high school football team will play Union high school at Ellwood City on September 27, it was announced today by Coach David Morgan Boyd of Union high. It will be the opening game for the Ellwoodians, and the second game for the Unionites.

On Friday afternoon of this week, the Union high team, with ten veterans from last year and several likely looking freshmen candidates will tackle the strong Zelenople high team at Zelenople. The Boyd coached team hopes for victory in this first set.

The Union high alumni yesterday gave the Union varsity a tough scrimmage session, and every man on the squad had a chance to show his stuff. Coach Boyd was very well pleased with the prospects after a hard session.

Need Brushing Up
Union's offensive game is not as smooth yet as it might be, the defensive game is better, and Coach Boyd has a lot of work ahead of him. The backfield men are fast but they fail to work together.

There is plenty of scrap and fight on the team this year. Each afternoon there is a tough struggle for varsity jobs. Physical condition of the team is good. There are a few of the boys ailing with slight bruises, but there are no serious injuries so far. The boys have been rehearsing two weeks.

Ten of the starting men on the varsity will be veterans with letters to their credits.

Tentative Lineup
Coach Boyd today announced his tentative starting lineup for the Zelenople game as follows—Captain Augustyne at full back, Monico and Matela on the halfback posts, and Jaworski at quarter. Severs and Phillips are fighting for the center job and either may start. Sniezek and Pietrowitz at the guards, Dec and Stockman at the tackles, Latimer and Davis at the ends, Davis is filling the right-end berth left vacant last fall.

For emergency, Boyd has the following men, Lannigan, Todd, Ryhal and Reynolds can be called on for ends, Fox, J. Stockman and French can fill in as guards, Georges, Andres and Schas as tackles. For the backfield Zarenba, Ammons, L. Augustyn and Walzer are being used as second-stringers.

Union high is much elated over scheduling Ellwood City and the boys are determined to make a good showing against the strong Ellwood eleven coached by Ingle.

Bessemer Hopes To Win Trophy

Team Will Be Light But Material Is Fast According To Coach Frederick

PLAY LOWELLVILLE ON SEPTEMBER 27

Although their eleven will be light, Bessemer hopes to again capture the Tri-County grid championship or be a runner-up this season, according to reports from Bessemer.

Our last year's varsity six players remain, namely Grist, Stanish, Stanky, Simonza, Afric and Pevic. Should the team win again this season the trophy will become Bessemer's permanent property.

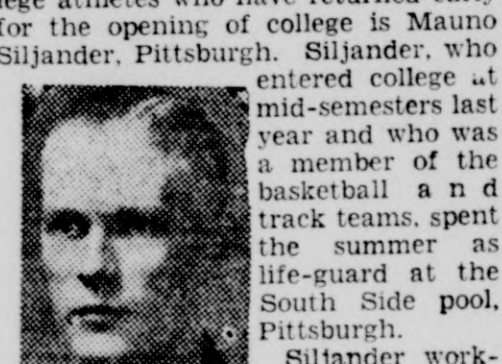

Vloh and Lovinson, two valuable offensive players were lost last season and with De Cerbo and Yards out of school, Coach Frederick will have to develop players to take their places. However, he has some good material and among those showing up good are Puromaki, Wolfe and Sankovich.

According to present indications Union looks strongest as a foe. Bessemer will go into the first game September 27, with Lowellville.

Other teams on the calendar are Scienceville, Union, New Wilmington, Slippery Rock, Shenango and Harrisville.

Siljander Works As Lifeguard For Summer Months

Special To The News
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 17.—Among the many Westminister college athletes who have returned early for the opening of college is Mauno Siljander, Pittsburgh. Siljander, who entered college at mid-semester last year and who was a member of the basketball and track teams, spent the summer as life-guard at the South Side pool, Pittsburgh.

Siljander worked with Tom "Pup" Parkinson, Pitt grid star, at the South Side pool. He is in excellent shape and will be ready for Coach "Pops" Harrison's call for basketball candidates following the football season. In addition to Siljander, nine other veteran courtmen will return and a number of new men will report when the call is made in December.

St. Louis Hurler Tells Story Of Being Kidnapped

Flint Rhem Says That Two Armed Men Took Him To Roadhouse And Got Him Drunk

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Flint Rhem, one of the pitchers on whom the St. Louis Cardinals are relying to win the pennant was sleeping in a hotel here today under orders from the manager of the Club Gabby Street, that he remain undisturbed until noon.

Rhem reported to Street late yesterday after having disappeared for twenty-four hours. Rhem said two armed men had taken him to a roadhouse on Monday night and poured liquor down his throat all evening, according to Street.

The Cardinals' manager then ordered Rhem to "get some sleep." Street told International News Service today that the matter was closed as far as he was concerned and that he would take no action against Rhem and that there would be no investigation of the affair.

"Rhem is a good pitcher. I think he can help us to win the pennant. I am sorry this happened but we are going to give the Kid another chance."

"Whether Rhem's story is true, I do not know. It may be true but I prefer to let the matter drop. He has been winning games all summer and I think he will continue to do so."

Rehufus Again Looms As Line Stalwart

Special To The News
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 17.—Glen Rehufus, Sandusky, Ohio, stalwart who as a freshman last year made the varsity team and played in every game at tackle for Westminister, again looms as first team choice for a tackle berth on the Titan eleven.

Six feet one inch tall and weighing 180 lbs., Rehufus was one of the outstanding linemen in small college ranks in the district last year. His play in the Allegheny, Geneva, Bethany, and Thiel contests brought in many words of praise from sports writers.

Rehufus was also a member of the track squad last spring. He played a tackle on the Sandusky, Ohio, high school grid team for two years. He is a member of Kappa Phi Lambda fraternity.

Chicago To Have Light Football Team This Fall

Coach Stagg Faces Tough Schedule With Light Green Team This Season

(This is the first of a series of articles by Leo Fischer, International News Service Sports authority, on prospects of the various big ten football teams. We will carry one of Mr. Fischer's stories each day.—Ins.)

By LEO FISCHER
International News Service Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—A splendid old gentleman named A. A. Stagg, although his difficulties have been mounting year by year, has started his thirty-ninth season on the midway just as optimistic and cheerful as he used to be in those golden days of Chicago football when heroes like Herschberger, Ekersall, Steffen, Russell, Norgren and others of that type held forth.

Coach Stagg's biggest line in time for the Wisconsin game, less than three weeks away. Two guards and an end from last year's eleven constitute his "veterans" for the forward wall, and it requires no great stretch of imagination to realize how tragic may be the showing of a light, green line, such as he must depend upon.

Back of the line, things are a little brighter. The four remaining veterans are augmented by a good crop of sophomores who seem quite capable of absorbing coach Stagg's tricky and complicated offensive style.

Chicago's team will probably be the lightest in the conference, with the situation made doubly hard by lack of substitutes. Three intersectional games are on the difficult maroon schedule, which also includes four conference contests.

Carnegie Playground Will Have Grid Eleven

On Thursday night at 8:00 o'clock in the Carnegie Auditorium a meeting will be held for the purpose of organizing a football team for the coming grid season. It was announced today. The eleven will be known as the Carnegie Playground.

Last season the Carnegie team coped the championship and are anxious to repeat. The following players ers are asked to report at this meeting: Albert Briggs, James Ross, Dan DiCarlo, Don LaRocco, Frank Vigali, Enrico, Fillipone, Raymond George, Vinnie Gallagher, Henry Venditto, Jack Campbell and anyone who wishes to try out for this team. After the meeting a short practice will be held. Players who desire tryout must not be over 18 years of age. W. A. Sullivan will coach this eleven and R. Viggiano will be manager.

Will Attempt To Stage Third Race Of Yachts Today

Race Committee Will Go Ahead With Plans For Third Race Of Series

AMERICAN BOAT IS FAVORITE

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Writer

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 17.—Out on the restless, sobbing bosom of the Atlantic today, the Shamrock V will try once again to prove that the money and time and care and attention that Sir Thomas Lipton, old man of the sea, has given it has not been in vain. Out there where the elements are in charge and men's lives are only a piffling ante in a seething, bubbling, boiling pot, the Challenger will race the Enterprise, twice an impressive winner in the third race for the America's cup and, according to over-night advice, the Challenger now has a chance where once it had none.

First of all, weather forecasters spoke for a "blow," meaning that the sea would cut its diodes where before it lay brooding and clam for all the world like a glass of water. This was no more than a negative advantage to the Shamrock. It meant that, since the Lipton entry had been beaten off thoroughly in scalled light airs, it might conceivably have a chance in winds that were brisk and robust. In effect, that with a boat that could lose very promptly under a certain set of conditions it might win under another.

Today's race was to be either fifteen miles to windward or leeward and return and here too, a possible break for the Shamrock was indicated. It was not the kind of a break that necessarily meant success in the face of impending failure, strictly in the Horatio Alger manner.

It simply meant that of two defeats, the one sustained over today's course had been the less disastrous.

However, the Lipton outfit proved overnight that it was not above assisting the machinations of destiny. It spent the interval following yesterday's postponements, due to rain, low visibility and breathless ocean, in trying to determine just what was the matter with the Shamrock and, while naturally it had no hope of reaching a definite and comprehensive decision between the setting of one sun and the rising of another, it stood to reason that any decision it made was to be for the best.

Lockleys-Wampum Battle Tonight

The Lockley and Wampum teams will battle tonight at the Lehigh field in the third and deciding game of the series for the New Castle mullball league title. Each team has won one game. The winner tonight gets the handsome trophy cup donated by Jack Gerson, local well known jeweler.

The game starts at 8 o'clock. It will be a seven-inning affair. Patterson will be the pitcher for the Wampum team, according to Manager Allen, while Manager Howard Read of the Lockley team will likely send Rodgers, his ace, to the hill in an effort to cop the honors. A fast game is looked for by followers of both teams.

New Castle Squad Shaping Up Well For Opening Game

When Coraopolis High School football team comes here to inaugurate the grid season by opposing the New Castle High eleven on Friday night at Taggart Field, the visitors will find the locals in the best of condition. On Tuesday afternoon Coach Phil Bridenbaugh sent his gridders through a long workout which was concluded by a scrimmage.

Coach Bridenbaugh stated that by Friday night his pigskin catchers will be all tuned up for that opening contest. The workout yesterday consisted of a variety of things. First exercises for about one half hour, then practice of kicking after touchdowns followed, with McCauley attempting to kick the ball through the posts.

Coach Bridenbaugh made the gridders line up for kicking off. Thomas, DeCarbo, and Askounes kicked. Next was an exercise for linemen. Dummy scrimmage for linemen was the third thing of the afternoon followed by signal drill. Dummy scrimmage for the first and second string team followed the scrimmage for linemen.

The workout was concluded with a scrimmage. Following a short scrimmage Coach Bridenbaugh excused the boys for the day. Tuesday's workout marked one of the longest of the season. The boys will likely see a long workout today and then probably on Thursday night the gridders will train under the floodlights. The workout the day before the game will be a light affair.

For the opening game, the New Castle line will find Jamison and Hileman at ends, DeCarbo and Hibbard at guards, Crisel and Askounes at tackles, Hoose at center. In the backfield will be found Captain McAuley at quarterback, Fabian at full-back, and Lasky and Thomas at half-backs. It seems likely.

On reserve will be Greensburg, Sotus, Harris, John and Nick Uram, Ostrosky, Schep, Rowe, Ciccone, and several other promising chaps.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh this season has faced one of the toughest seasons since coming here to head the local institution as coach. With practically a dozen or more veterans lost from last season, he faces a task of producing a complete team out of green and inexperienced gridders. Many believe that although the boys this season are green, by the middle of the season they will show real results.

Phils Defeat Pirates 15-14

Army Of Pitchers Suffer As Batters Hammer Ball Around

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 17.—The Pirates lost to Philadelphia 15 to 14 in a 10 inning game here yesterday. The Phils tied the game in the ninth and won out in the tenth. It was a heavy slugger game in which an army of pitchers were clouted to a free-three-well. Thirty eight hits were recorded and four home runs two of which were culled by Grantham, Surh and Klein got the others.

Municipal Caddies Will Have Party

The boys who lug the golf bags at the Municipal Golf course will have a big party on Friday night of this week and Walter "Hub" Hart, manager of the course is to be the host. The affair starts at 5:30 o'clock and the boys will be back home by 10:30 o'clock according to Hart today.

A big lunch, a lot of fun and a big surprise awaits the boys. Only registered caddies will be feted. We want to show our appreciation to the boys who have handled the caddy jobs this year in first class manner.

"The caddies at the Municipal course are very efficient for the first year and we intend to have only first-class boys working for us," said Hart today in praising the work of the youngsters.

The parents of the boys can rest assured that they will be home by 10:30 or 11 o'clock at the latest. There is a real good time awaiting the boys and it is hoped that they will all turn out.

National Boxing Association Lays Down Strong Law

Any Member Of Association Fighting In Non-Member States Will Be Barred

(International News Service)

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 17.—An effort on the part of the National Boxing association, meeting here in convention, to gain full control of prize fighting in the United States, was seen today in a resolution passed which bars from member states all boxers who participate in bouts held in non-member states.

The move was seen as a direct blow at New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and California, four states which do not belong to the National Boxing association. Stanley M. Isaacs of Cincinnati admitted sponsoring the resolution which reads:

"After January 1 any boxer who performs in New York, California, Pennsylvania or Massachusetts (not members of the N. B. A.) will not be used in the N. B. A. member states."

When reminded that New York now is the center of the boxing game and may refuse to give up their New York bouts, Isaacs said:

"If New York doesn't join the N. B. A. either it will have all the boxers or we will."

John V. Clinkin, chairman of the Illinois athletic commission, was elected president to succeed Isaacs. Chicago was chosen as headquarters for the organization and Clinkin will maintain an office there.

Another ruling dissolved the association's connection with wrestling and the National Wrestling association was formed.

The association recognized Schmeling as the heavyweight champion and W. L. Stribling of Atlanta as the leading contender.

Zelenople Makes Ready For Union

Opening Game To Take Place On Home Field On Friday

(Special To The News)

ZELIENOPLE, Sept. 17.—Zelenople High school football team will open their season Friday with Union Township High team of near New Castle. Coach Saeger has been training his lads, and expects a successful season, although he has several new men on his team. There are nine letter men on the team, with Fred Zehner as captain.

The game Friday will begin at three o'clock, and should be well attended.

The following is the schedule for the season for Zelenople:

Friday, September 19, Union Township, at home.

September 27, Freedom, at home.

October 4, East Palestine, away.

October 11, Prepost, away.

October 18, Ben Avon, at home.

October 25, Beaver, away.

Nov. 1 East Brady, at home.

November 7 Evans City, at home.

November 11, Mari, away.

Coach Saeger who is athletic director has 33 boys out for practice this year, this being the largest number that were turned out for practice. He has the possible lineup for the game Friday picked.

Edinboro Team To Open At Allegheny

MEADVILLE, Sept. 17.—Although the football season, so far as Allegheny College is concerned, does not get under way until the first Saturday of October, the Methodist school, once it is formally inaugurated, has no wasted week-ends until the final curtain is rung down on the gridiron sport.

For the first time in history, Edinboro State Teachers' College, although but 20 miles from Meadville, has a spot on the Allegheny schedule. The teachers come to Meadville for the season's opener, and in the game will be concentrated much district rivalry.

Only one so-called "major" school is on the card this year, that being Dartmouth. Allegheny will make its fourth annual trip into New Hampshire on November 8, the game marking the close of the Big Green's home schedule.

The outstanding game on the home card, at Montgomery field, is that of November 1, with Grove City, the attraction. Each of Allegheny's other district rivals—Geneva, Westminster and Thiel—are met away from home.

The schedule—Oct. 4, Edinboro at Meadville; Oct. 11, at Westminster; Oct. 18, at Thiel; Oct. 25, Adrian at Meadville; Nov. 1, Grove City at Meadville; Nov. 8, at Dartmouth; Nov. 14, Salem, at Meadville; Nov. 22, at Geneva.

Carnera Battles Gross In Chicago

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—Primo Carnera, the Italian giant who has found gold in America's fight industry despite the business lapse, tonight will meet his last American opponent before returning to Italy.

Carnera is to engage one Jack Gross of Philadelphia in a ten round bout at Chicago stadium.

Gross is a left-hander and weighs 200 pounds.

Carnera and his manager, Leon See, will leave for Europe with approximately $100,000 in profits from their American tour, according to reports.

Active Buying Wave Sends Stocks Upward

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Wall street heard today that important forward buying had been inaugurated in manufacturing and wholesale merchandising lines, and was more inclined to buy stocks than in the last day or two. A 2 per cent increase in Steel operations, with the big Steel corporation at 65 per cent of capacity, was taken as evidence of better buying for the automobile and pipe-line industries, in the latter of which new projects are under way.

United States Steel forged ahead to 169 1/2 in the first hour, behind a fairly active buying wave, on the

"Pal Day" Program At Y. M. C. A. Today

Games And Plunge In Pool To Feature Events; Boys Take Guests

Mirthful laughter will resound through the halls of the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon about 4 o'clock when a hundred or more boys of the city gather to celebrate "Pal Day." The affair is held annually and gives each member of the association's mid-glass opportunity to take a guest.

A period of games, with Boys' Work Secretary W. A. Thomas in charge, will precede a swim in the pool under Physical Director Henry MacNichols' direction.

Life Sentence For Slaying Of Wife

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—Nick Cannella, charged with the murder of his wife, Anna, pleaded guilty today at the resumption of his trial before Judge James Gay Gordon, Jr. in court of Oyer and Terminer. He was sentenced to life imprisonment in Eastern penitentiary.

Cannella had testified during yesterday's court session that he killed his wife when she taunted him alleging his brother was the father of their son. In passing sentence today the court declared parts of Cannella's story were untrue and expressed conviction that Mrs. Cannella had never told the defendant that he was not the father of their youngest child.

Mike Tanuma Taken To Hospital; Was Riding With M. Iwatsubo Of New Castle

A broken nose and cuts about the face were sustained by Mike Tanuma, 32 of New Castle, while riding with M. Iwatsubo, also of New Castle, Monday, when Iwatsubo's auto skidded in the street car tracks at Sheehy street and Wilson avenue, Youngstown, O.

The car carrying the New Castle pair crashed into a telegraph pole. Tanuma was taken to the South Side unit of the Youngstown hospital.

Disorderly Conduct, Reckless Driving Is Charged Against Man

Conti Fined $10 And Costs, Denies He Was Driver Of Automobile

A disorderly conduct and reckless driving case was aired in the office of Alderman W. E. Marshall Tuesday evening.

The case resulted following an information brought by Lillian Mottle of Warner alley, South New Castle, against Andrew Conti of 1211 Huron avenue.

The woman charged Conti had driven through the alley in which she resides, on September 13, and that he swore at her. The charge she made was docketed as disorderly conduct and reckless driving.

At the hearing Tuesday Conti denied he was driving at the time, declaring that his brother, Tony, was the driver of the car. Conti was fined $10 and costs by the alderman. The fine was to be produced this evening.

Tariff Commission Members Sworn In

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The new tariff commission authorized by the Hawley-Smoot tariff act, came into being today when chairman Henry P. Fletcher, Thomas Walker Page, Alfred P. Dennis, John L. Coulter and E. B. Brossard took the oath of office. The sixth member will be named later by President Hoover, a last minute declaration by one of the proposed appointees preventing him from completing the body at this time.

The oath was administered by L. W. Moore, assistant to the secretary of the commission.

Pinchot Talks On Stream Pollution

Gifford Pinchot Pledges Self To Fight For Pure Pennsylvania Streams

CONTINUES TOUR OF CITIE'S TODAY

(International News Service)
OIL CITY, Pa., Sept. 17.—Tionesta, Clarion, Brookville and Punxsutawney were to be visited by former governor Gifford Pinchot, Republican gubernatorial candidate, today as he continued his tour of every county in Pennsylvania after spending the night here.

State parks and stream pollution were discussed by the "tall forester" before a large crowd here last night. Before making his stand advocating state parks and remedying the stream pollution difficulty, Pinchot delivered another denunciation of "unfair public utilities" and "my opponent, John Hemphill, who is the utilities' candidate."

"Hemphill is very careful not to make any statements which might affect the stand of the Democratic party on this issue," Pinchot continued. "Hemphill belongs on the other side of the fence. He and the Philadelphia gang."

"In the matter of stream pollution we must act slowly. I am in favor of clean streams but I am not, especially at this time, in favor of throwing thousands out of work by shutting off pollution by tanneries and other institutions too quickly."

"I tried when governor before to bring about an amicable agreement between the state and the corporations on this matter and pledge my aid to do all in my power to make the streams of Pennsylvania pure."

Before arriving here yesterday, Pinchot visited Sharon, Greenville and Franklin where he made addresses.

Businessmen Here To Hear Credit Manager From Pittsburgh Talk

Truesdale Will Speak At First Fall Meeting Of New Castle Credit Exchange

J. R. Truesdale, manager of the Pittsburgh Credit Bureau and former secretary of the National Retail Credit Association will address the first fall meeting of New Castle Credit Exchange members in mid October. The speaker was secured by John Abel, president, and Ray P. Hall, manager of the local exchange, while attending the quarterly meeting of the Associated Credit Bureaus of Pennsylvania held at Meadville, Monday.

Truesdale will address the local businessmen on credit bureau service. The meeting will be the first held this fall.

Chicago Gangster Saved From Death By Defective Gun

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—Joseph Martolotto, put on the "spot" last night and saved from death when his would-be killer's revolver failed to go off, refused to talk today in St. Joseph's hospital where he was taken with a bullet wound in his cheek.

The gunman pulled the trigger again and again after wounding his victim, but defective cartridges failed to explode. The would-be slayer dropped his gun and escaped.

Sam Catalano was taken into custody as a suspect.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

This column is not exactly a clearing house for complaints, but occasionally it gets them. Some of them are good and some of them are just growls, but occasionally one comes in that is worth attention. For instance the one yesterday from the lady who had just received a delinquent tax card.

The lady wants to know why she couldn't be notified in the first place what her county taxes were, just as she is in the city and to this crack the answer is "nobody knows." She happens to live on the outskirts of the city, her husband's work is such that he cannot get down town during the day and the result is that county taxes are sometimes overlooked until they go delinquent.

Her argument is that if the county can send her a notice when the taxes are delinquent, why can't they send the notice a couple of months ahead, and thus avoid the delinquency penalty. All of which is logical reasoning, in capsule form, but doesn't change the present order of things.

When you owe city taxes, the city treasurer notifies you the amount, when the government wants your income tax, Uncle Sam sends you a notice that the time is here to pay it, but for some reason the county plan is to let you guess what you owe and when you owe it. If you guess wrong, then the delinquent tax collector gets you.

The system should be changed, Joe Doaks, living out in Washington Twp. who has no telephone, has to make a trip into the city to find out what he owes. Joe could be just as well notified by post card, and the card would be his receipt when he paid his bill.

The fall season of entertainment seems to be headed into a big opening here. The Sue Harvard recital for the Jameson hospital and then "Odds" presented by the Service Division of the Cathedral promises well from the tales of the ticket salesmen.

The Sue Harvard recital comes on the thirtieth of this month, and you will want to be there. Something new in the way of seating arrangement is being provided. In addition to the regular boxes, many other boxes have been arranged around the rims of the auditorium, and the folks are going to make it quite a social affair.

Something on the order of the Continental opera arrangement will be seen. Over there they have intermissions during the progress of the opera, when you can step out and croak an elbow with an old college chum. Here you'll be able to step out into the lobby and clean off your tonsils with a coke or a bottle of grape juice.

Primarily the idea of the intermissions seems to have been to promote neighborliness. It wouldn't be good form to lean over your box and yell a greeting to your neighbor, just as the tenor and the soprano were in the middle of a duet. Hence the intermission.

There will be refreshment stands in the lobby and for about fifteen minutes at the half of the program, you will get a chance to mingle with your friends.

Increased Tariff Bill To Parliament

Hopes To Relieve Unemployment Situation In Canada By Implement Situation In Canada By Increased Tariff

(International News Service)
OTTAWA, Sept. 17.—A severe jolt to imports from the United States was faced today in the increased tariff rates on 130 articles as opposed by Premier R. B. Bennett and made effective today. The premier offered the increased tariffs, the highest in the history of Canada, in a bill to the house committee on ways and means as a method of relieving unemployment in Canada.

The premier said the increased rates were only temporary and designed to aid 25,000 workers without jobs in Canada. He indicated after the unemployment period passes revisions would be made in the tariff rates.

Ills Of Age Largely Due To Arteries

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Yesterday I recounted some of the recent observations on blood pressure carried out by Dr. George E. Brown at the Mayo clinic.

They are only one set of an extraordinarily large number of studies in that allied subjects performed all over the world in the past few years. I have attended a good many medical society meetings during the past five or ten years, and I have noticed that, especially during the past five years, an avalanche of papers dealing with these matters have been read at every meeting. At least five or six papers at a medical meeting concern themselves with blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, and so on. The reason, of course, for it is that the forces of medicine are bent on attacking the diseases of middle and beginning old age. And of these blood pressure is the central problem.

If we had to name a single change which is characteristic of old age and upon which all of its manifestations depend, we would at once say the decrease in the elasticity of the blood vessels. In youth the forces of the body are bent on attacking the diseases of middle and beginning old age. And of these blood pressure is the central problem.

Diabetes, at least the form found in late middle age, is probably largely due to degeneration in the pancreas dependent upon hardening of the small arteries. Certainly it is always associated with a distinct liability to arterial diseases—with angina pectoris, gangrene of the extremities, blindness due to changes in the retinal arteries, etc.

Heart disease, the degeneration of the heart muscles found in elderly people, also has an arterial basis. Angina pectoris—pain in the heart—is certainly related to arterial changes. Apoplexy and Bright's disease—such potent causes of death in the late middle aged—are basically due to hardening of the arteries respectively in the brain and the kidneys.

Thus, nearly all the great degenerative diseases of the last half of life are directly dependent on this question of the arteries and blood pressure.

To solve them would mean that we could prolong the duration of human life almost indefinitely.

We have already solved the problem of another great middle age degenerative disease—pernicious anemia. Cancer, another of the factors in middle age mortality, is still a mystery. The increase in weight as age advances, and its relation to the diseases of middle age, is an interesting subject we will take up later in the week.

(Editor's Note: Dr. Clendening cannot diagnose or give personal answers to letters from readers. Where questions are of general interest, however, they will be taken up, in order, in the daily column. Address your queries to Dr. Logan Clendening, care of this paper. Write legibly and not over 200 words.)

Bagger Pledges Synod Growth

Rev. Dr. Harry Bagger, Synod President Takes Over Reins Of Office

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17.—Induced into office as president of the Pittsburgh synod of the Lutheran church, Rev. Dr. Harry H. Bagger today stood pledged to lead the synod to greater growth in Christian influence and missionary endeavor.

Exercises were held last night at a special convention in the First English Lutheran church here. The new president claimed that there had never been a period in the synodical history when conservative progress was demanded more genuinely or forcefully.

Dr. E. B. Burgess, retiring president, was in charge of the meeting. Rev. F. W. Ash, Penn. Pa.; Rev. G. H. Schnur, Erie; Rev. J. E. Bittle, Wilkesburg; Rev. E. F. Rice, Duquesne; Rev. J. J. Byers, Edgewood; Rev. W. E. Frey, Erie; Rev. J. K. Riser, Clair-ton; Rev. B. F. Beiber, Indiana; Rev. C. W. Barnett, Evans City; Rev. F. P. Fisher, Pittsburgh; and Rev. Theodore Buch of Johnstown assisted in the induction services.

Relief Association To Fight For Share

Members of the Firemen's Relief association, headed by Attorney W. J. Moffatt and George Buchanan on one side and council on the other will confer Friday relative to the association's request the city turn over to the association about $5,600, tax sent the city on foreign fire insurance premiums. Solicitor White in rendering an opinion said the city could not under existing ordinances do this. Councilman Burns says he will not turn the money over until the subject is definitely settled.

The discussion proposed as precipitated when the auditor-general asked the association to get official recognition from council so the state can send the money direct to the association. Councilman Burns is of the opinion that under the 1929 law the money should be sent to the city and not the association.
